MINUTES OF THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY, HELD IN THE OLD CHAMBERLAIN HOUSE, KING STREET, SATURDAY, APRIL 19, 1924.

The meeting was opened at 3 o'clock by singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and prayer by Mr. Sanford B. Dole, with President Ethel M. Damon in the chair.

The President called for the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were read by Recorder Agnes E. Judd for Mrs. Andrews, and also a summary of the action of the meetings of the Board of Managers held during the year.

The report of the Treasurer, Wm. W. Chamberlain, was read, accepted and ordered printed.

The President then called for reports from various committees as follows:

Finance Committee. "Cousin" George R. Carter reported for this Committee by saying: "I just want to commend the Treasurer for doing our work."

Building and Grounds Committee. The same Cousin reported for this Committee: "There have been a number of trees planted during the year," to which the President added that some ohai or monkey-pod trees were still to be planted, and that two mango trees had been cut down from the grounds of the old Chamberlain premises, the reason for cutting the mango trees being that the stones thrown by irrepressible school children during mango season would be too dangerous to the windows of the building and its valuable contents.

Library Committee. "Progress," from Cousin George R. Carter.

Publications Committee. Cousin Arthur C. Alexander reported the printing of the annual report.

Cemetery Committee. Cousin Beatrice Castle, reporting for this Committee, said that the addition to the Mission Cemetery had been graded and grassed, a monkeypod tree planted, and also a duranta hedge and some Christmas berry bushes.

A summary of the Secretary's report for the year was then read by Miss Agnes E. Judd for Mrs. Andrews. This was accepted, ordered placed on file, and printed, together with the whole report.

The President then called for any new business. Cousin Will Chamberlain stated that the present charter provides that the Society may hold property worth up to $100,000 and that the present market value of the real estate owned by the Society, together with the value of the library, museum and securities, approximates $100,000, making it advisable for an amendment to the charter. He then offered the following resolution and moved its acceptance:

"WHEREAS, A Charter of Incorporation of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society, executed the 10th day of August, 1907, provides that the said Society may hold property to the value of $100,000.00;

"AND WHEREAS, The scope of the Society's activities has very greatly increased since the adoption of said Charter, making it advisable to amend said Charter, increasing the amount of property which may be held by the Society, and providing for an enlarged scope of activity;

"NOW, THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That the provision in the Charter limiting to $100,000 the amount in value of the property the Society may hold be changed to read $200,000, and that the purposes of the Society in the Charter now reading:

" 'Of perpetuating the memory of the missionary fathers and mothers who brought Christianity to these Islands, of promoting union among its members, of cultivating in them an active missionary spirit, stirring them up to good deeds and of assisting in the support of Christian work'

Be changed to read:

" 'Of promoting union among its members, of cultivating in them an active missionary spirit, stirring them up to good deeds, of assisting in the support of Christian work, of maintaining a museum and library, of caring for, regulating and preserving the Mission Cemetery at Kawaiahao and such extension thereof as may be possible, of educating deserving youths in Christian schools, of supporting wholly or in part missionaries in foreign or domestic work, all in memory of the missionary fathers and mothers who brought Christianity to these Islands.'

"AND BE IT RESOLVED, That the President and Treasurer of the Society be authorized to present to the Treasurer of the Territory the petition of the Society asking that the above changes in the Charter be authorized."

Cousin George R. Carter seconded the motion, emphasizing the need of an amendment to the Charter. There being no further discussion, the motion was put and unanimously carried.

Mrs. Frear, Chairman of the Nominating Committee, recommended the following officers for the ensuing year:

President.....Ethel M. Damon
Vice President.....Wm. P. Alexander
Secretary.....Mrs. R. W. Andrews
Treasurer.....W. W. Chamberlain
Recorder.....Agnes E. Judd
Auditor.....Bernard H. Damon

The motion was made that the rules be suspended and the Secretary cast a ballot for the names as recommended by the Nominating Committee. This was done and the officers declared duly elected.

As the Cousins were spread out in the various rooms of the Chamberlain House, and it would be difficult to take up the collection, it was decided to combine that feature with the roll call, thus "killing two birds with one stone" and to hold it out-of-doors. This proved to be a gain of time and finances both. At the blowing of the conchshell by Cousin Fred Lyman, those who were in the house joined the children and others waiting outside, gathering on the front lawn between the two old buildings. While Cousin James A. (Kimo) Wilder shook the hat, Cousin Joseph S. Emerson called the roll and the descendants formed in line and filed past the hat and the official counters. For some unknown reason the Cookes failed to be present in usual numbers and we missed the heretofore exciting Judd-Cooke contest, though the Judds did their part well and took the "palm" for the afternoon. We were glad to see the good showing made by the families of Lowell Smith.

At the conclusion of the roll call, at the suggestion of Cousin Walter Dillingham, the wives or husbands who had married into missionary families were asked to form in line and march past the hat.

The total collection for the afternoon amounted to $118.63.

Early in the meeting the President had announced that the appeal for "hookupus" of relics had been generously responded to. The showing of these relics was the last thing on the program.

The meeting adjourned until next year with the singing of two verses of "From Greenland's Icy Mountains."

Respectfully submitted,

THE SECRETARY.

BOARD OF MANAGERS' MEETINGS

Summary

Two meetings have been held during the year: On Dec. 28, 1923, and April 14, 1924.

A resolution was passed authorizing the Treasurer to dispose of the bonds of small denomination belonging to the Society, and particularly to take any steps necessary to facilitate the sale of a $100 Denver Gas and Electric registered bond.

The action of the Treasurer in paying the board and tuition for the year 1923-24 for the girls in Maunaolu Seminary, Kohala Seminary, and Mid-Pacific Institute was ratified.

The Treasurer was authorized to open a new set of books of the Society's finances as of January 1, 1923, and to inventory the securities held by the Society at that date at the cost price, or where the cost price could not be ascertained, at the par value of the said securities. This has been done.

The Secretary presented the need in our Museum of glass cases to properly care for and show the exhibits. She also said she thought we should begin to collect the photographs of the third generation of missionary descendants.

The request from the authorities of the Bishop Museum for back files of "The Missionary Herald" was referred to the Library Committee with the recommendation that we give to the Museum any duplicates we have which they wish.

It was moved that the books and pamphlets in the office should be placed in the hands of the Library Committee for incorporation into the Carter Library of the Society.

A resolution was adopted that the President and Treasurer be authorized to present to the Treasurer of the Territory the petition of the Society asking for changes in our charter. This resolution will be incorporated in the minutes of the annual meeting.

AGNES E. JUDD,
Recorder.

REMINISCENCES OF THE MISSIONARY MOTHERS.

By One of the Daughters

MRS. ANNIE CLARK GULICK

Two years ago I read at the Mission Children's Annual Meeting some brief recollections of the early missionary mothers, as far as to the fifth company that came to the islands.

I have prepared for today's meeting some very brief recollections of some of the later mothers. I could not touch upon them all, or at any length upon any of them, it would have made the article too long.

Mother Armstrong.—I did not know Mother Armstrong well as a child. It was in my girlhood when my father succeeded Mr. Armstrong as pastor of Kawaiahao Church and after my return from the U. S., in my early married life, that I came to know her. She was a large, dignified woman, but kindly and cordial, somewhat more distant in manner than her husband, whom the children all loved, and were glad to hear him speak to them at the meetings for children during mission meeting.

She took a deep interest in the church of which her husband had been pastor, not only in the people but in the building and surroundings. Often have I seen her accompanied by her two little daughters, Ellen and Amelia, in the Kawaiahao churchyard, supervising native men who were trimming trees and digging up bushes and weeds, which then covered the yard. Her labors made a great change in the place. We were sorry to have her leave the Islands after her husband's death, and spend the last years of her life in California.

The Hitchcocks lived much by themselves on Molokai, and my most distinct early recollection of Mother Hitchcock is, when she was at one time at Lahaina, and her one little daughter was taken from her, when only two or three days old. The parents' grief and the sadness of it all, made a deep impression on my mind. She was the friend and confidant of the women on Molokai and her influence there was very great.

Mother Lyman.—Mother indeed to many besides her own children. Good as gold, her hospitable home was a favorite visiting place for many of the young people, friends of her children. She was a true and helpful friend to the boys of the Lyman Boarding School for Hawaiian Boys. She was so fearfully seasick that she seldom made the voyage by schooner to Honolulu. I did not wonder after making a trip with her.

Mother Coan.—The neighbor and co-laborer of Mother Lyman, Mother Coan, was just as good but not so strong physically. With fair complexion, light hair and gentle manners, she was a dear woman and strong intellectually, she was a good helpmeet to hard working Father Coan. She had a school for the girls of Hilo.

The sixth company of missionaries consisted only of the Parkers and Lowell Smiths, whose homes were in Kaneohe and Honolulu. Mother Parker's long life, a hundred years, brought her down to within the memory of many of you. An attractive woman, entertaining in conversation even to very old age, her home was a favorite resort of her friends, and even when confined to her bed, it was a pleasure to receive her cordial, cheery greeting. The warm welcomes received in her cozy home at Kaneohe in her younger days, linger in my memory.

Mother Smith was intellectually bright and ready to help in any way those who needed help. She had a school for children in Nuuanu Valley. Her own life was saddened by losing one after another the children who were given her. A few months or a year or two of life with their devoted parents and they were taken to develop in a Heavenly home, leaving the disappointed parents crushed with grief. Our beloved Emma Dillingham and one son, were all of a family of five children who were allowed to grow to years of maturity in the earthly home.

Then there was Mother Dimond, not very large, but who gave one the impression of strength, an admirable helpmeet for her eccentric husband, and Mother Hall, slight and frail, much of whose time had to be spent upon her couch.

Mother Castle most of us remember, hospitable, generous, loving, her sweet face and cordial greeting drew many to her pleasant homes, both at Kawaiahao and Manoa Valley. Her large family of children would have been a great care to one who had not her strong belief in the power of prayer.

Mother Cooke.—Her dear, kindly face rises up before me as I write. What a pleasure it was to cross the street to her home, where her bright smile and playful words assured one of a welcome. It would have been very difficult to find any persons as suited as were Mr. and Mrs. Cooke for the important and responsible position of caring for the young chiefs of the nation, which duty devolved on them in the early years of their mission life.

Mother Bailey was our dear and kind neighbor during the years we spent in Wailuku. Though not very strong she lived to quite an old age, and her last years were spent in Oakland, Cal.

Mother Wilcox' broad, laughing face and jolly laugh, ought to have banished the blues from any one who had the privilege of knowing her.

Mother Rice, a much loved mother to all the mission children who attended Punahou School in the early years. Could anyone forget her sweet, loving face, or her warm words of welcome? Spared to old age, those of us who wandered to other lands and returned to the beautiful homeland, were permitted to grasp again her hand, and listen to her words of wisdom.

There are other faces impressed upon my memory, but I must not take up more time.

The missionary mothers were a beautiful, noble, wonderful band of women. May their descendants cherish their memory and live worthy of their ancestors.

THE RELIC SPOON OF LEVI CHAMBERLAIN

By ESTHER LYMAN McCLUSKEY

From a Story Handed Down in the Chamberlain Family

In a thatched dwelling with coarsest ware, pewter spoons and tin cups, were two silver spoons, a tablespoon and a dessert spoon, a gift to Levi Chamberlain on his departure from his home in Boston in the year 1822 with the First Reinforcement to the Mission field in the Sandwich Islands. One spoon, so quaint its story, can relate an incident in the life of the beloved Queen Kaahumanu, and reveal the effect of the gospel of "Peace on earth, good will to men," upon a nature once so haughty and imperious.

Thus reads the tale: In the year 1829, one Rev. J. S. Green was absent from Hawaii for five months to investigate the Northwest Coast of America and ascertain whether the American Board of Missions should open a mission there for the Indians. In a grass house near that of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Chamberlain, Mr. Green left his young wife and their first-born son, a frail babe of one month. Tenderly the young mother her vigils kept, for six months. The candle flickered—went out before the father's return.

One day during Mrs. Green's vigil, Queen Kaahumanu came to tea. To honor royalty, Mrs. Green used of her dozen new silver teaspoons, the gift of her dear husband's brother for whom the babe was named.

"Aloha nui," spoke Kaahumanu.

"Aloha Oe," replied Mrs. Green. (Little did she realize the custom of the chiefs to claim as their right that which took their fancy.)

The Queen beheld with pleasure the shining bits of silver. "Maikai," (I like these spoons).

"I am so glad. They were sent to us from America," innocently replied Mrs. Green.

With an expressive Hawaiian gesture toward herself, Kaahumanu raised the teaspoon she was using. "N'au" (Mine!).

(How should Mrs. Green not offend the Queen and yet retain her set of spoons?)

"My little babe who is ill was named for the uncle who sent these spoons. Possibly some other day I can let you have a spoon," said she.

Smiling, Kaahumanu bade the hostess "Aloha."

In the shadows of the evening, Mrs. Green in her distress sought the counsel of her friends and neighbors, the Chamberlains, for she desired no trouble between the Queen and the Mission.

Could greetings such as these not bring comfort? "Bravely have you borne your loneliness. The constant care of the little one is wearing upon your strength," and "Let me share with you the vigil tonight." Yes, they understood. Yet, they dwelt upon the gravity of offending Kaahumanu.

Leaving the room, Mr. Chamberlain returned with his one quaint tablespoon.

"Grieve no longer, neighbor, about breaking your set of spoons. When Kaahumanu calls, give her this spoon of mine. It is our mission that Kaahumanu may win her people to the knowledge of Christ's teachings, 'My peace I give unto you. Not as the world giveth, give I unto you.'"

No allusion was ever made by Kaahumanu to Mr. Chamberlain of the spoon, but three years later, from her death bed, Kaahumanu bade an attendant, "From that camphor chest, bring me a parcel wrapped in a silk handkerchief. When I am gone, do you take these two silver spoons to Mr. Levi Chamberlain with my love."

This unexpected and touching tribute of Kaahumanu is precious in the traditions of the family of Levi Chamberlain. Precious because it reveals lives filled with God's grace.

And the spoons? They are with Levi Chamberlain's granddaughters, the Misses Maria and Harriet Forbes of Honolulu and Ellen Lyman of Hilo, Hawaii.

THE HOOKUPU

The credit not only for the original idea, but also for the success of our first annual hookupu must be given unreservedly to our good FRIEND, Miss Emily Warinner, editor of The Friend, who followed up her timely suggestion with editorial remarks in the February issue of that periodical. All that the rest of us could do was to stand around and wonder why some of us Cousins had never thought of the idea before! Its success was beyond our expectations, for with so little preparation we wondered whether any one would remember to bring a little puolo to annual meeting. Seventeen Cousins did remember, however, and the society will always treasure the gifts which it must, in some cases, have cost a real sacrifice to bring. In the excitement of the meeting the greatest possible care was taken not to omit mention of any gift. If any such omission occurred at the meeting, or is evident in this printed list or in the official acknowledgements mailed to the donors by the president, will the Cousin who observes such omission be so kind as to let Mrs. Andrews know of it? Such attention will confer a real favor on the officers of the society.

Mrs. D. D. Baldwin of Haiku sent two packets of old letters from among those written to Father Baldwin, from 1837 to 1875. In addition, Mrs. Baldwin offered to send any of seventeen valuable books from her library.

From Mrs. O. H. Gulick had already come a number of old books, among them just the right volumes to complete the society's file of the Missionary Herald; and over and above these Mrs. Gulick brought to the Hookupu not only the completion of her story of the Mission Mothers, which is printed in full, but colored prints of the Morning Star and the Missionary Packet.

Miss Julia Gulick brought two volumes from her library, Mrs. Judd's Honolulu Sketches and the Memoir of W. P. Alexander.

Mr. A. Frank Cooke sent extracts from the journals of his Father and Mother, of great personal and historic interest.

Mr. W. R. Castle brought one of the rare Lahainaluna engravings, framed, showing the Mission street and houses in 1837.

The Misses Maria and Harriet Forbes brought one of their most precious heirlooms, the sampler worked by their Grandmother Chamberlain in 1818, beautifully framed in koa at the Hilo Boarding School.

Mrs. Esther Lyman McCluskey wrote especially for this Hookupu the story of the Relic Spoon of Levi Chamberlain, which is published in this report.

Mrs. A. Francis Judd contributed several pages of her reminiscences of Father and Mother Judd and the young Hawaiian Princes.

Mrs. Robert W. Andrews, our tireless secretary, brought some old Hawaiian stone relics, among them a lamp and an awa bowl collected long ago by Mr. Andrews.

Miss Caroline Green presented a very quaint photograph of her aunt whom we all loved, Miss Mary Green, at Gem Cottage.

The Bond Cousins from Kohala had already sent a valuable and interesting collection which was being arranged in its new koa case before the idea of the special hookupu was broached, and which therefore fitted in admirably to the new scheme. To mention every article in this collection would be to list about a hundred books and as many more pamphlets, some of them rare issues from the Mission press, and to itemize precious old household necessities like whale oil lamps of pewter, with their accompanying pickwicks, old ladles, a quaint band box and poke bonnets, a little stove for heating the baby's milk at night. Among the books is the tiniest one imaginable, not two inches square, called Dewdrops; others quaintly illustrated in color, like Uncle Joseph's Pretty Story of the Camel; many of the text books which Mission children were brought up on seventy years ago; a unique broadside about the Sandwich Islands Mission, printed in Maine in 1821; a picture of the manele in which Mother Bond used to ride; and sketches of the old home and Hawaiian church in Kohala. This family home is the last of the old Mission houses which is still home to the Mission children who were born in it, and it is fitting that it should send some of its countless treasures to the home of all the Cousins in Honolulu.

After the Hookupu, several Cousins said that other gifts might be forthcoming. Since then, two have come in which were not mentioned: first, the gift of six little volumes of Hawaiian texts from the Mission press, brought by Miss Warinner, who originated the happy idea of the Hookupu; and lastly, from Florida, across ocean and continent, a long manuscript letter written in 1830 by Levi Chamberlain to Elisha Loomis, presented by Cousin Mary Loomis.

"Thank you," cry all the Cousins, "and long live the Hookupu!"

REPORT OF THE TREASURER

January 1, 1923, to December 31, 1923

Your Treasurer presents herewith report of the finances of the Society for the year ended December 31st, 1923.

All of the funds and securities are deposited with the Hawaiian Trust Company, excepting a portion of the Memorial Fund, which is in the control of Messrs. F. C. Atherton, C. H. Cooke and George R. Carter, Trustees, and is on deposit in The Bank of Hawaii, "Savings Department."

During the year a more detailed set of books has been opened and the various funds recorded therein. Most of the bonds of smaller denominations have been disposed of, and the proceeds consolidated in bonds of larger amounts.

Attached to this report is Balance Sheet as of December 31st, 1923, together with Certificate of Mr. Cyril F. Damon, the Society's Auditor; also Schedules showing Receipts and Payments of the several Income Accounts, and Receipts and Payments of the several Principal Accounts.

It is of interest to note that the donations toward the general expenses of the Society for the year ending December 31st, 1923, consisted of 166 individual subscriptions, totalling $538.87, and collections at the last Annual Meeting to $84.32. During this same period 21 Cousins became Life Members of the Society.

The New Year gives promise of a still better record. From January 1st, 1924, to Friday, April 18th, 215 individual donations to the general expenses have been made, aggregating $639.63, and 21 more Cousins have become Life Members.

Respectfully submitted,

W. W. CHAMBERLAIN, Treasurer,
Hawaiian Mission Children's Society.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORT

The Introduction

The Secretary would first tender the thanks of the Society for gifts received.

Early in April, 1923, a native mat for the Old Mission House, which made it look much more homelike, was given by our President, Miss Ethel M. Damon, who later added to the comfort and cheer of the office by presenting a cot and two rugs. The rug which was given years ago by Mrs. C. M. Cooke, she thought exactly fitted a bare spot in the Old Mission House. To these office comforts were added, by Mrs. Giffard, a couch cover and pillows.

In April, also, Mrs. Madeline Judd gave "The Bingham Row," a photograph of Hiram Bingham III, with his wife and seven sons.

In June Miss J. Deyo, "for the Wetmores," brought carefully wrapped, a piece of copper-plate used in the copper-plate engravings. This copper-plate was valuable and hard to get, being begged or bought from the sea captains in the harbor.

In June Mrs. W. F. Frear presented some of her mother's verses, most of them written for the "Maile Wreath" long ago; and for Christmas she gave a printed copy of the precious little "Journal Book," written by her mother, then Emma L. Smith, at the age of six.

In August the Misses Bond sent about thirty photographs, some of them pictures of the fathers and mothers, and others pictures of the Bond family with their then young friends, also a cap worn by Mother Bond. Later they sent three large boxes of books and relics that have not yet been opened, awaiting a set of shelves on which to store them.

In October Mrs. Ellen Weaver sent photographs of portraits taken in their youthful days, of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Armstrong. Russell Whitman of Berkeley, a Cousin of long standing, gave our President, for the Society, three of Mrs. C. W. Gelett's journals. In the same month, Mr. George P. Castle gave a fine photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Tozzer (his daughter) and their two little girls, Anne and Joan.

In January, 1924, Dr. Emily Dole brought a package of very interesting photographs, and in February, Mrs. Della Bishop Shaw also presented a valuable collection of pictures. Miss Damon had the Armstrong portraits framed and also had framed the Kohala Church, built in 1856, the Bond home and boys' school at Kohala, and Mother Bond's "Manele."

In February, also, Mrs. Orramel Gulick presented to the Cousins' Society seventeen volumes of the "Missionary Herald"—from 1886 to 1903; two Hawaiian Bibles of the 1843 and 1869 editions, a "Nauru Bible" with the autograph of the translator, Ph. A. Delaporte; "Andrew's Vocabulary of the Hawaiian Language" of 1836; "Andrew's Hawaiian Grammar" of 1854; "Emerson's English-Hawaiian Vocabulary," of 1845; "Ka Buke Lawe Lima," 1887; "Hawaiian Phrase Book," 5th edition, 1893; the "Bible Dictionary," translated by Rev. E. W. Clark, and a Spanish Bible. She also gave the "Memorial of Rev. E. W. Clark"; "Na Himeni Hoolea," 1864; "Na Himeni Euanelio," 1889, a file of Ke Alaulas, with twelve copies of "Hawaii's Young People"; nearly a file of H. M. C. Soc. Reports, together with over one hundred Nauru photographs.

Later Miss Laura Green presented "Hawaiian Stories and Wise Sayings," collected and translated by Laura C. Green and edited by Martha Warren Beckwith for Vassar College Field Work in Folklore.

As to the Proteges of our Society, Marion Guerrero graduated in June and soon after went to the mainland to make her home with a teacher, Miss Frank, in St. Louis. The other girls, Ethel Ching, Mary Naukana and Eva B. Kahele, remain at Maunaolu, and a new girl, Madeline Nichols, has taken Marion's place. Mary Kaheiki is still at Kohala and Helen Iona at Kawaiahao.

The increasing knowledge and appreciation of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Library and its growing usefulness is encouraging. New books have been received, old books re-bound and new shelves have been added, on which to store them. Prof. Howard Ballou, the original collector for Mr. G. R. Carter, has been re-cataloguing the books. Library of Congress index cards are being inserted in place of older cards by B. T. Sheeley, the Librarian, who is in attendance from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 4 to welcome all who come. R. S. Kuykendall has occupied one room as a study while writing his history of Hawaii and some University students spend hours here in research work. Miss Josephine Sullivan, also, has a room in the Chamberlain house while gathering material for a history of C. Brewer & Co.

Our grounds, through the skilled touch of President Damon and her committee, have been greatly improved. The bougainvillea that grew between the O. M. House and office, has been replaced by the large oleander that stood too near the front gate. Two mango trees in front of the old Chamberlain House had to be cut down to keep small boys from throwing stones against the house, and samang or monkey-pod trees have replaced them to give shade. Coconut trees, near a dozen of them, are rising rapidly, real children of the soil, to call the mission home blessed—a "pride of India," to add the fragrance of other days, three more "kukuis," the "Lama o Hawaii," (Light of Hawaii); the ginger and ti plants about the water taps that give the real Hawaiian atmosphere, and even a group of little Hawaiian mulberry trees clustered about the old building like grandchildren clinging to her skirts.

A group of hala trees was included, this being the first shade tree known on the grounds, for about 1823 Kaahumanu herself brought hala roots to grow into shade for the new mission home. The final project this year is the completion of the coral wall on King street. A few coral stones have been gathered, and more are eagerly anticipated. If any Cousin or good friend can find us coral stones, please let us know.

MISSION WORKERS

The great Mission Work, begun here in 1820, has well been compared to a banyan tree with its spreading branches, its rootlets and its strong, vigorous, independent offspring.

The Micronesian branch our Society helped to nourish from the time Rev. Halsey Gulick went from our midst with the Snow and Sturgis families. They were followed by the Doanes, Binghams, Walkups, Logans and a score of other faithful missionaries, including the young women teachers who gave their lives to the work. The last was Rev. Ph. A. Delaporte and family, who gave the Nauru people the Bible in their own language and left only when the mission was transferred to the English church.

Other branches reached away to China and Japan, represented by the Gulick families; to Persia with the Van Duzee sisters; and to Turkey with the Shepard-Andrews. The Turkish mission has been blighted and crushed again and again, but springs up strong and vigorous each time, from the root so deeply imbedded in that hostile soil. Dr. Lorrin A. Shepard, who took up the broken staff dropped from his father's hand, still helps to keep the Aintab hospital open.

Central Union Church was a branch, but long ago reached its majority and planted missions in Africa, in Asia and on the islands south. Now, after more than 30 years of work in the heart of the city, the old building, dear to so many hearts, has been sold, and the church, leaving one of its grown children at Palama and another at Kalihi Union, is about to be transplanted to a larger field, "A Church within a Garden," on Beretania and Punahou streets. The last Christmas exercise for the Bible school in the old building was James A. Wilder's "Knights of the Square Table," and for the adults "The Oratorio of the Messiah." The latter was given under the direction of Dr. George W. Andrews, head of the organ department of the Conservatory of Music at Oberlin, Ohio, with a chorus of 160 trained voices and the best soloists in the city. Dr. Andrews had charge of a very large class of adults in the Bible school during the months he was here. The last church supper was held in January. The young people of high school and academic age have for the past year held all their meetings on the new grounds.

Palama Settlement also has sold its original property on King street to the O. R. & L. Co. for $60,000 and will soon be ready to occupy their new and larger plant on West School street.

Dr. Palmer has been very busy overseeing work on the new church. He writes regularly for the "Star-Bulletin" and "The Friend'' on topics of general interest, and his book, ''The Human Side of Hawaii'' is expected to appear soon.

Rev. A. E. Shattuck, Educational Director of Central Union, with his wife and little daughters, Lois and Jean, left in May for a summer on the Coast. The Bible school, under Mr. Shattuck has made substantial gain, especially in the Senior Department which held all its meetings in the club-house on the grounds of the new church.

Rev. Edwin T. Sherman, former Associate Pastor of Central Union, now Chaplain of the Kamehameha Schools, is at the head of the Inter-church Federation of Honolulu. The committee made great preparation for the Sunrise Easter Service on Punchbowl, and for the Community Christmas Tree on the Capitol grounds, but stormy weather thwarted all their plans. The Community Thanksgiving service, held in Kawaiahao Church was a success. The church was filled, and the large offering, $721.00, was sent to the Inter-church Federation of Japan to be used for church equipment in the areas desolated by earthquake and fire.

In June, Rev. Rowland M. Cross, on his return visit to the mainland, was one of the speakers at the Inter-church Federation.

Dr. Bartlett of Los Angeles was here in February in the interest of Near East Relief and spoke at two morning services in Central Union.

The Hawaiian Board, now constituting the main branch of the Mission tree, throws out its refreshing branches in every direction. During the year the ''Church of the Cross Roads'' was established at the Mission Memorial building to care for the inter-racial, English-speaking young folks. Rev. Galen R. Weaver is the pastor. There are 61 resident and 17 non-resident charter members—most of them students from McKinley High, Normal School, University of Hawaii and private schools. Some are from other islands and have their memberships here only while in school. Rev. J. L. Hopwood and Rev. Norman Schenck were in charge until Mr. Weaver was ordained.

Rev. Norman Schenck, after a vacation of nine months on the mainland, devoted himself to this new church until Mr. Weaver was installed. He then resumed his former duties as Field Secretary of Chinese schools and settlements throughout the territory.

Rev. Frank S. Scudder, Secretary for the Japanese Department of the Board, was obliged for health's sake to resign part of his indoor duties but continues to oversee the work, traveling from island to island, helping and consulting with Japanese ministers and leaders in Christian work.

The Secretaries, H. P. Judd and J. P. Erdman, with Miss Hill spent some weeks on the other islands looking after Hawaiian and Filipino interests and the Sunday Schools.

Miss Emily Warinner, Managing Editor and Business Manager of The Friend, with her mother, returned from her six months' leave of absence in December. After visiting with friends in the East, Miss Warinner finished a course in Journalism at the University of Southern California. While there her mother was very ill with pneumonia, which depleted somewhat the gain in physical strength, pleasure and profit of the change.

Miss Cora Varney, who left Hawaiian Board and Palama S. S. work three years ago because of poor health, has returned to Hawaii after years of outdoor life in the National Parks of the West, looking ten years younger. She was for two years with the Yellowstone Park Camp Co. as manager of five camps and for one year at Yosemite. She has since returned to Yellowstone.

Rev. George H. De Kay in October visited schools on Maui and other islands, interesting pupils to take part in the oratorical contest which the Anti-Saloon League will hold this year. They offer four prizes.

Rev. R. B. Dodge, for so many years an earnest worker of the Hawaiian Board on Maui, met with a serious accident and was permanently injured when his car was hit by a train on the Southern Pacific Railroad. He had just settled as pastor of the Congregational Church at Redwood City.

Changes have taken place in the personnel of the Board on other islands. Rev. Allen H. Gates, who took the place of Rev. W. A. Tate at Lahaina, has been transferred to the Kona field, and the Episcopal minister, Mr. Cockroft, will carry on the Hawaiian Board's Sunday School and Community Service in the Congregational form. Rev. E. E. Pleasant is supplying vacant fields and keeping oversight of the work in Central and West Maui.

Mr. R. W. Bayless of Lihue holds English services at Kapaa and ministers to the young people of several races at that place. Mr. Bayless and other men have organized a mid-week Bible class at Hanamaulu with an attendance of over ninety members.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Weller, after four years at Central Kona church, left in August last and were succeeded by Rev. A. H. Gates of Lahaina. Mr. Weller accepted the position of Principal of Mid-Pacific High School.

Rev. H. N. Smith of Honokaa, Hawaii, combines with his regular Sunday work a branch of the Hilo Public Library and has a fine club among the boys.

The 101st Hawaiian Evangelical Association was held June 19-23, in the old Kawaiahao coral building. Rev. Akaiko Akana presided and the opening sermon was given by Rev. Poepoe. The song contest and the Sunday School "hoike" were popular features of the meeting. The Minister's Tea Party was held on the Mission Memorial grounds.

The Christian Workers' Institute held its 18th graduation exercises in the Mission Memorial Hall in June, 1923. This had been a very successful year, with the enrollment greater than ever before —270 students in all. Mr. Theodore Richards is the Superintendent and Miss Anita W. Lake the Extension Secretary. Eighteen girls and six men received certificates of graduation. Many of these were from the schools and were soon scattered throughout the islands like leaven to permeate the outside districts and to incite to Christian work. There are 22 in the senior class this year.

At the same time, the Bible Training School graduated four men.

The Y. M. C. A. of Hawaii, great stalwart branch of the World's Y. M. C. A., has its connecting rootlets with the Mission Tree, through which the Spirit of Missions reaches the many races of Hawaii. The Kauai branch this year was led by a committee of some of our Cousins, Dr. A. H. Waterhouse and H. D. Sloggett, who, with others, reorganized their clubs in 28 communities, interested them in Bible study, promoted night schools, held a Father and Sons' meeting and held a Boys' Summer Camp at Haena.

The Central Y. M. C. A. at Honolulu is serving boys and men all day from six in the morning till ten at night. They come for breakfast, for dinner, for the use of the telephone, a swim, a game, a room, a place to meet a friend or hold a committee. Boys come after school for games, for club meetings or Bible classes, and at night they come for evening classes. There are eleven clubs in the Central Y. alone with their gymnasium classes and Bible study.

Lloyd R. Killam is at the head of the Nuuanu Y. M. C. A., which has of late been waking up to the rich spiritual possibilities of its varied programs. The leaders seem to feel themselves called of God to serve the church through work for young men and boys.

Charles F. Loomis attended the Y. M. C. A. Conference in Austria and incidentally visited England and other countries. Since his return he has been engaged in field work.

Paul Super, for so many years General Secretary here, is now National Secretary of the Polish Y. M. C. A. A. A. Ebersole, Associate Pastor of Central Union Church some years ago, is also in Poland. He is General Secretary at Lodz and is busy organizing clubs, holding meetings, giving lectures, movies, musicales and social evenings with no American assistants. Mr. J. Urice, formerly of Central Y. M. C. A. of Honolulu, is now at headquarters of Y. M. C. A. in New York, connected with the selection of leaders for various institutions.

The Y. W. C. A.'s recent purchase of a portion of Laniakea tract from the Allen Estate is such a daring innovation as to prompt us to set aside all mention of the items of interest of their year's history and concentrate on this one thing. A civic center for women is to be housed on these accessible grounds with a frontage of 178 feet on Richards Street facing the Capitol park, an ideal spot, as cool as can be found in the business part of the city. The site is large enough to house the Executive offices, club rooms, games hall, gymnasium, cafeteria and assembly hall. There will be no need of dormitories while beautiful Fernhurst is but a few blocks away, but a roof-garden is on the tentative plans which have not yet been given to an architect. Miss Channon, the General Secretary, is now on the Coast studying plans and it will be some time before this half-million-dollar plant will be completed; but it almost takes our breath away to try to realize what is coming to our sisters and daughters in the near future.

The Girl Scouts first Inter-Island Conference was held in Honolulu March 26th, when Mrs. George Bennett, commissioner of the island of Hawaii and Miss Frances Seibert, local director of Maui, came to the city to meet Miss Elizabeth Kemper Adams, national educational secretary for the Scouts. Miss Adams arrived in Honolulu on March 25th and at 11 o'clock met the Councilors of Oahu; and in the afternoon a tea was given in her honor by councilors and scout officers, to which representative women from the Y. W. C. A., College Club and Principals of the schools were also invited. Miss Adams addressed the girls of the Kamehameha Schools, McKinley High School, Kalihi Hospital and also the Ad Club. At the Inter-Island Conference recommendations were made that the Territory of Hawaii be made the 13th Girl Scout region, as continental U. S. is divided into 12 regions, and to Miss Adams' surprise these islands have more scouts than some of those regions. On the 27th Miss Adams toured the island with some of the scout workers, visiting the scouts of Waipahu, Waialua, Kahuku, Waiahole and Kaneohe. She left the following day, after addressing the girls of the Senior and Junior Academies of Punahou, the Territorial Normal School and the University of Hawaii.

Miss Agnes Judd, Scout Commissioner for Oahu, entertained the honored guest.

The Boy Scouts held their 14th "Makahiki," or Annual "Show," on Feb. 9th from 2 to 4 o'clock. James A. Wilder, chief Sea Scout of the U. S., was present, not only to help make up the program, but with his megaphone to keep things moving. The Scout Executive, S. W. Robley, said there were 300 Scouts in 35 troops, and each troop had its pet stunt, so you see there could be no lagging, but action, action, always action, and sometimes two or three stunts combined and taking place at the same time. No wonder the boys were ready to cheer!

The "Old School-house" was used for the first time as "Headquarters of the Honolulu Kindergarten Association" on Friday, May 2nd, 1924. The President, Mrs. F. M. Swanzy, opened the meeting at which Mrs. W. F. Frear presided. The room had been made quite attractive, and among other articles was a bench fitted up from a pew secured from the old Fort Street Church where the kindergarten was first located.

The Centennial of the Sandwich Island Mission at Lahaina, Maui, was held last May and people gathered from far and near to the meeting under the old banyan tree and heard addresses by Rev. H. P. Judd, Rev. Poepoe, Rev. Stephen L. Desha and Hon. W. O. Smith. Excellent music was rendered by pupils of Lahaina and Kamehameha III schools. This year, in June, a Centennial will be held at Hilo, Hawaii.

SCHOOLS

The schools of Hawaii have undergone many changes during the year.

The Public Schools closed on June 15, 1923, and did not open till September 10.

On June 26 the Summer Normal School opened and continued in session six weeks, there being about 250 students in attendance.

The Daily Vacation Bible Schools—a dozen or more of them—were a source of delight to nearly 1000 children in July.

The High School Boys' Conference was held at Kaneohe about the first of April by the Y. M. C. A., and a little later the University Y. M. C. A. held a conference at Palama Fresh Air Camp at Waialua. At both of these, religion, work, play and cheerful companionship blended in the making of impressions for good.

Willard E. Givens succeeded Vaughan MacCaughey as Superintendent of Public Instruction, the schools opening Sept. 10 with over 50,000 pupils and the usual congestion.

The Normal School has had a prosperous year with an enrollment of more than a thousand pupils. It offers two years of collegiate normal training and two years of preliminary High School work. An agricultural course has been added this year, emphasizing especially the culture of sugar-cane. The former home of Theodore Richards has been used as a girls' dormitory. A meeting of the Normal and Training School Alumni Association was held at which Rev. Akaiko Akana was elected President, Miss Ruth Shaw re-elected Secretary, and an address of welcome was given to the honorary members, B. O. Wist, principal of the school, Edgar Wood, principal for 20 or more years, Mrs. Lilla G. Marshall, Miss Ida G. Macdonald and Miss Ida M. Ziegler.

The Central Grammar School has been set apart for those especially proficient in the English language. All nationalities are admitted to this school, but they must undergo a strict test in English in order to enter here. About one thousand pupils have been in attendance. The school has been housed for years in the "Keoua Hale," the historic palace of Princess Ruth. This building, with its large rooms finished in koa-wood, with the Hawaiian coat of arms emblazoned on the ceiling, though never especially adapted for school rooms, was redolent with sentiment, and reflected splendor. It is soon to be torn down and replaced by a more modern building.

The McKinley High School has been much before the public this year because of the erection of the beautiful, spacious buildings, the enterprising spirit in which the students worked to clear the grounds and the formation of the McKinley Band, but space is lacking to tell about it. We would like to mention, too, the good work done by the high schools of Hilo, Maui and Kauai, but again space forbids. But perhaps the most worthy of mention are the little country schools scattered throughout the group of islands, that have been incited to such remarkable rivalry and character-building effort in gardening, by the praises and prizes awarded in the columns of the Star-Bulletin.

The University of Hawaii, on June 4, 1923, graduated by far the largest class that has ever left the University halls. Twenty-seven Bachelor's Degrees were conferred, six Masters and one Honorary Degree. The new year began Sept. 11th with "great expansion in physical equipment, curriculum and methods." Four new faculty members were added, and 706 students were enrolled in the University courses. Nearly 600 of these are resident students, while others are enrolled for extension or correspondence courses. The Athletic Department has received more attention this year. A Co-ed swimming class was organized with Miss Ida Weaver as President. The University football team recently went to the Coast, where they won great praise. A course of lectures on Current Events by Prof. K. C. Leebrick has excited much interest among Honolulu people. Large classes in millinery and dress-making have been taught by Madam Dahl of the University.

Kamehameha Schools, too, have seen many changes. The "Home-Coming" of the Preparatory Department was a gathering in the nature of a farewell to Miss Alice E. Knapp, for twenty-seven years Principal of the boys' preparatory department. Miss Knapp has been for a year one of the house-mothers at the Kamehameha Girls' School.

A dinner was given at the Country Club to bid aloha to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Webster, President of the Kamehameha Schools for nine years; and to welcome the new President, Frank E. Midkiff, son-in-law of Mr. Theodore Richards, one of the teachers in 1885, during Kamehameha's pioneer days. Mr. Webster was presented with an oil painting of "Hauula Beach," done by D. Howard Hitchcock. The closing exercises of the school were held in Bishop Manual Hall at 4:30, June 6. Certificates of promotion were given to 125 pupils from the 9th, 10th, and 11th grades. The 12th grade was only started this year, so that in 1924 the first students will be graduated from the Kamehameha High School. Mr. Webster presided for the last time at this Commencement. Miss Abbie H. Newton, Principal of the Kamehameha Girls' School, presented certificates to the girls, and Mr. J. E. Carpenter, Acting Principal for the boys, presented certificates to the boys. Mr. Frank E. Midkiff delivered the address. The school for girls and the Primary School were closed for the summer, and only about fifty boys remained to care for the farm, the dairy and the shops. The enrollment for the present year is 357.

A very high standard has been set for vocational courses—wood-turning, electricity, forging and machine shop work for boys, while the girls are well drilled in cooking and sewing. Rev. E. T. Sherman, former Associate Pastor of Central Union Church, is chaplain. The school will close June 1st, 1924.

The Kohala Girls' School.—In the Cousins Report 1907 is a story of the "Beginnings of Kohala Seminary," by the pen of E. C. Bond. Since then we have kept in touch, sympathizing with the crowded conditions, rejoicing in the prospect of having new buildings, and again realizing that "hope deferred maketh the heart sick." Last year we really rejoiced over that new Industrial Building with its "spacious dining-room and indirect electric lighting; the much needed sewing-room with its shelves, drawers and cupboards; its kitchen with the oil-burners and hot and cold water connections; its store-rooms, its supply of laundry tubs, ironing-boards and drying space." Those who have lived under the former conditions can fully appreciate the change. We can also sympathize with Miss Richardson, the Principal, in her desire, expressed in the July "Friend," for a new dormitory. It is surely due the Hawaiian girls, and most of the girls in Kohala Girls' School are of Hawaiian parentage, that they should have comfortable, up-to-date sleeping accommodations and home-like surroundings. This July "Friend" has an article praising the Alumnae of the school, and a "Historical Sketch of Kohala Girls' School," by Mrs. B. D. Bond. There is also a sketch of "Father and Mother Bond," the founders of the school, written in Miss Ethel Damon's own fascinating style. Among other things she tells of the "old lead pipe" put down by Father Bond nearly fifty years ago and still in use for bringing water to the interior of the Seminary building from the royal watercourse of Kamehameha.

The Mid-Pacific Institute.—Year by year, since first they opened their doors for the education of boys and girls, the Cousins have followed the upward progress of Kawaiahao Seminary and Mills Institute.

The wonderful vision of a united school with the large picturesque buildings and ample grounds—situated at the opening of beautiful Manoa valley—was that of the indefatigable worker, Francis W. Damon. His enthusiasm inspired the far-reaching executive ability of Dr. Doremus Scudder and others, and the devoted financial aid of George N. Wilcox, Mrs. J. B. Atherton and many more who helped to transplant these historic schools to the valley of rainbows.

Like a chapter of some fairy book these artistic buildings appeared as if carved out of the Manoa hills, and the two schools with the same studies and many aims in common but with separate teachers and diverse environment, have been gradually merging into one.

A high school course was opened in the boys' school to which a few girls were admitted and this being a success the grammar grades have gradually and naturally drifted together until now it is a co-educational institution.

Now it is proposed to add to the other buildings a Domestic Science Building. The money has been provided and the new building is in process of erection. A new high school building is also needed to release the present rooms for dormitory purposes and to concentrate the Academic Department.

Punahou.—This, the second year with the new president, A. A. Hauck, has been a year of progress. Perhaps the outstanding advance has been in the line of agriculture and manual arts. New courses have been established in these departments and a new building erected. This is the James B. Castle building, made of re-enforced concrete and the outer walls have 2,000 square feet of steel sash, the upper halves being pivoted so that the whole building can be thrown open to the weather if desired. This contains a wood workshop, a metal workshop, a drafting room, a lecture room, an agricultural laboratory and an erecting room, with a skylight that gives abundant lighting. There are other rooms besides a central office with a glass well. A number of power engines have been established and other machinery. The cost of this building is said to be about $20,000.

The James B. Castle Trust Fund has made it possible to devote much more time and care to this branch of education than ever before.

The Y. M. C. A. or Hi-Y of Punahou embraces many of the Junior and Senior classes. A weekly newspaper, Ka Punahou, is published and The Oahuan has become their annual and is well worth preserving.

Five Seniors have been chosen to meet with the teachers to prepare a program for graduation night, and three are to assist in making out the program for class night. At least nine of our Cousins are represented in this class—Mary Douglas Alexander, Marjory Atherton, Dora Cooke, Louise Erdman, Alfred Hartwell, Helen Hitchcock, Dorothy Judd, William Bicknell Story and Jack Waterhouse.

Maunaolu has been progressing in its usual quiet, efficient way, but we are sorry the letter containing details has not reached us in time for publication.

Hilo Boys' Boarding School.—1836-1924. This old school, founded 88 years ago, is still prosperous. Father Lyman, the founder, long since was taken to his reward, and Levi C. Lyman, the grandson, after twenty-five years of faithful and efficient service as Principal, resigned last year. But the old methods are much the same and the old system of developing "the head, the heart and the hand" still continues to make men of character and self-reliance.

Military Drill helps in the discipline of the school and adds to the sprightly bearing of the boys which naturally inculcates self-respect. The athletics and physical training of the boys make them fit and happy.

The boys are early taught Home-Craft—the making and mending of household articles, the tying of knots, the saddling and harnessing of horses, feeding of poultry and pigs, milking cows and caring for cattle. Later they choose their occupations, many turning to cabinet making and polishing of the beautiful koa and other hard woods of the Islands. Practical study of agriculture, experiments in soils and fertilizers and the culture of crops make practical men. Electricity is a favorite study and the repairing and care of automobiles. Thorough courses are now given in carpentry, blacksmithing, printing, automobiling, home-crafts and agriculture, and, best of all, the "dignity of labor."

Mr. Hargrave, as Principal of the Hilo Boys' Boarding School, is now in his second year.

Lahainaluna.—Speaking of changes, this, the oldest school existing on Hawaii nei, has perhaps been changed more than any other. For many years now it has lost its individuality as a private school, the Government having taken it over as an agricultural boarding school. For some reason, perhaps because Kamehameha Boys' School, with more money, more teachers and more land, was more alluring, and in later years the University, reaching out with its scientific searchlight has been more successful in the cultivation of the soil—for some reason—this school has not been a financial success, and after much discussion, and setting aside all sentimental considerations, it has been changed to a Junior High School which was much needed on West Maui, the tools and mechanical appliances being retained for possible need. Perhaps as a Pioneer Normal, Industrial and Agricultural school it has served its purpose, and as such should live in history.

Lahainaluna has a unique history. In 1830 and 1831, when every man, woman and child wished to go to school there was a dearth of teachers, and in the General Meeting of June, 1831, it was decided to found a school for the education of teachers. Rev. Lorrin Andrews was appointed to take charge of the school. The place appointed was Lahainaluna, the hillside above Lahaina, and the lands, 1,000 acres of red earth on the hillside and 10 acres in the valley for the cultivation of taro, etc., were given by Kalukua, wife of Hoapili. About twenty-five boys—men rather, for most of them were married—were chosen from the different mission stations, and sent on Sept. 1st, with their teacher, to Lahainaluna. They put up temporary grass houses for their families and a lanai for a school-room, the posts and rafters of which were dragged from the mountains above and covered with pili grass. There, for about two hours a day they spread their mats and had their lessons. Walls were built later and benches for tables where they could write and begin their normal education. During the remainder of the day they put up their dwelling houses, planted and cultivated their own taro, sweet potatoes and sugar-cane, and probably cared for pigs and poultry—whatever was necessary for their own sustenance and that of their families.

The translating of school-books was constant, for these earnest boys would greedily devour the lessons as fast as they were put into their native tongue. So eager were they for knowledge that in 1834 they had so mastered their written language that they were publishing a newspaper, the "Lama Hawaii." This was a great incentive to composition, for the best written articles and news items were printed in the paper, and they made their own wood-cuts of the animals they learned about in their natural history lessons.

During 1835 and at its close, about 89 of the older of the 125 pupils were sent out as teachers and a large class of younger boys took their places. This doubled the responsibility and in the summer of 1835 Rev. E. W. Clark was added to the faculty and in October Rev. Sheldon Dibble. These men were both in poor health but were indefatigable workers. Mr. E. H. Rogers also came to take charge of the printing, in 1835.

For eleven or twelve years this quiet, hard-working pioneer, Rev. Lorrin Andrews, put his whole soul into the development of the Lahainaluna Seminary. His recreation during the latter part of that time was teaching the boys copper-plate engraving, some of which engravings are still extant and are being collected by ex-Governor G. R. Carter for the H. M. C. Library.

This school has sent out men of note, such as Kamakau and Malo, the historians, and Rev. James Kekela, who received a watch and autographed letter from President Abraham Lincoln in recognition of heroic service to America.

THE ROLL CALL OF COUSINS.

Alexander (W. P.)—Arthur C. Alexander is head of the Survey Department of American Factors, influential trustee of Punahou, deacon in Central Union Church and Chairman of the Publishing Committee of the H. M. C. Soc. He and Mrs. Alexander spent the month of August at Olinda, Maui, enjoying the cool climate and wonderful views of that mountain region. W. P. Alexander left his home at Ewa for a business trip to Hilo, in September, meeting his wife at Kilauea, and with her spending a few days with her father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Bond, in their summer home near the volcano. A. DeWitt Alexander and his wife Edith are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter, Jean Edith, born August 28, 1923. Herman Alexander is with the Los Angeles Steamship Co.

We had the privilege last summer of reading travelog letters from Miss Mary C. Alexander. In her own charming style she told of Shanghai and her visit to the kindergartens of Japan with its beauty, its courteous people and its art. We were glad to have that bright picture before it was erased from the face of the earth by the dread earthquake.

Miss Mary remained in Japan till after the disaster in September. At the time of the earthquake she was climbing Fujiyama and during the next two weeks she went through most hazardous experiences attempting to find her sister.

Miss Agnes arrived from Japan in January, 1924, and has given graphic descriptions both here and on Maui, of her experience during the earthquake at Tokyo. Miss Mary has since arrived and both are visiting old friends and old scenes before going on to the mainland.

Dr. Edgar Alexander visited Honolulu in June and his brother, Frank Alexander, and family, at Eleele, Kauai. The doctor has made his wife and children of Culloden Park, San Rafael, Calif., all members of the Cousins Society. The Doctor's mother and sisters still live in Oakland. A card received later says, "I am building a new home near Palo Alto, Cal., so send all mail to 135 Stockton St., San Francisco, until new address is settled. Aloha from Edgar, Gertrude, Gordon and Betty Alexander."

Wallace M. Alexander spent some months of the summer in Europe. In November, with John Waterhouse, he visited the plantations on the other islands that are under the care of Alexander & Baldwin. Again in March he came to note progress on the new building that is to house the Alexander & Baldwin firm in Honolulu. This is in memory of his father, Samuel T. Alexander, and of H. P. Baldwin. Mrs. Alexander returned to Piedmont early in April. Mrs. John Waterhouse and Miss Martha went to the Coast in September. Miss Annie Alexander made a short visit to Hawaii last summer, but about Jan. 1st left for a trip in Egypt. In September we received from Mrs. Lucy Wetmore Lewis photographs of the tombstone of S. T. Alexander, whose body was laid to rest in the heart of Africa. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis placed two bouquets of wild flowers on the grave, one for themselves and one for A. F. Cooke, who authorized them to do so in his name.

In January we received, through our former Treasurer, Lyle A. Dickey, very life-like photographs of his aunt, Mrs. E. Charlotte Alexander Ferreri, and her husband, Giulio Ferreri. Since then a cable message was received, telling of Mrs. Ferreri's death in Milan, Italy, March 27, 1924. Mr. and Mrs. Ferreri have made their home in Italy since their marriage, many years ago. They visited Hawaii in April of 1915, and her sisters have seen her since in her adopted home.

We miss L. A. Dickey as an officer more than we can tell. Today we miss the news items he always supplied.

Mrs. Henry Alexander has had Mrs. Orramel Gulick and Prof. and Mrs. Jewett as guests for some months.

Mrs. Helen G. Alexander has been with her daughter Helen A. Alexander through the winter, but they talked of leaving Westport, Conn., because of the cold and snowy weather. A lovely letter from Jane, wife of C. Frederic Alexander of Portland, Oregon, came in January. She says her year on Hawaii is like a beautiful dream, and the people here she thinks are charming.

Andrews (L.)—Carl B. Andrews has not been off the island this year but has attended strictly to business except for the invigorating and inspirational outings he and Mrs. Andrews have taken on Tantalus. He says there is nothing new to tell though the classes are larger and everything is flourishing at the University of Hawaii. Mrs. R. W. Andrews, as Secretary of the Cousins' Society, says she would like to go privately to each of the donors of her lovely 80th birthday gift and tell them how much she still appreciates it and their love, and to tell them that the orchid that bloomed among the other flowers that day blossomed again in March to greet the passing of another milestone.

Mrs. William Andrews writes from Brooklyn of the pleasant apartments she has found and is sharing with her daughters, Mabel and Ethel, who are in business in the city. The winter has been mild and they have been without colds, and on March 12, her birthday, she was sitting in a bower of blossoms and pussywillows, harbingers of spring, all telegraphed from her son, Lorrin Andrews, of Los Angeles. Mabel Andrews, whose little book, "Dorothy's Adventures in Bedroom-land," which was published last Christmas, is happy over the news that it is being filmed for the movies. Her sister, Mrs. B. E. Fernow, of Ithaca, N. Y., is having some of her ivory portraits on exhibition in several cities.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Andrews Nott made a short visit to the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. W. Moore, at Long Beach, Southern California. She has since been quite ill, and Elizabeth (Mrs. Walter Hough) came from Chicago to be with her. She has since moved to Berkeley—about a stone's throw from Mrs. Eleanor Wood—and near her friend, Mrs. C. K. Clark. A letter from her son, William Weaver Nott, of Waco, Texas, is filled with accounts of his two boys, "pure, sturdy youth, abounding in health." Weaver, the older, is president of the High School Oratorical Association. He has climbed high in the scout movement, is captain of the scout football team, and has just received permission for his troop to help the police in handling the crowds in the "Baylor vs. Texas A. M. football game," which annually attracts 15,000 or 20,000 people. His brother, Willard, sturdy in mind and body, is one of his troop. Both boys, 17 and 14, are interested in the possibility of winning a Rhodes scholarship and are shaping their training to meet the three requirements—scholarship, athletics and leadership." This, taken mostly from their father's letters, is our introduction of these boys to the Cousinhood, and we hope they may soon become real members of the Society.

Andrews (S. L.)—Miss Winifred Andrews' engagement has been announced, the marriage to take place in the near future.

Andrews (C. B.)—In the December Missionary Herald we read that Dr. Lorrin Shepard of the Azariah Smith Memorial Hospital at Aintab has been ordered to give up practicing medicine and surgery in Turkey, and that the hospital has been closed by the Government. Dr. Shepard has never been permitted to take examinations in order to secure a license to practice in Turkey because of the present policy of the Turks to prevent all foreign doctors from entering the country.

This has been a great blow to the work, but we are told Dr. Shepard is not cast down, but still expects in some way to secure the license that will permit him to remain. In March, 1923, Drs. Shepard and Hamilton examined 718 new cases in the clinics alone. During the year 234 major operations were performed, besides 250 minor operations. Dispensary treatments numbered over 15,000. Many were turned away because of lack of nurses—nurses failing because of overwork. The strain was great, but the tremendous opportunities for up-to-date medical service done in a Christian spirit was so great that doctors and all gladly gave themselves to the work.

Alice Lorraine Andrews, daughter of Lorrin A. and Alice Newell Andrews, is at present in Hongkong, China, tutoring the only child (a girl of 16) of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Dunbar. She sailed from Seattle, Sept. 11th, 1923, and is to remain with the Dunbars for two years to prepare the daughter for college. Miss Lorraine writes to her mother, Mrs. Alice Andrews, now spending some months on Hawaii, "Did I tell you that Cousin Lorrin Shepard is probably being forced to leave Turkey by the new law which is taking away the licenses from all physicians who received them since 1914? All the people of Aintab, except a few fanatics, feel very sad over the closing of the hospital, and some are full of resentment against the Government. Lorrin is very sorry, naturally, to leave Aintab, even though a difficult post, and so is Virginia, his wife. When he wrote he was on his way to Beirut, Syria. He has been offered a position there, on the medical staff of the great American College. I hope he will accept the position, for it would be in an ideal community, with many college people, and a place of safety, where the children could be well educated."

Armstrong (R.)—The Armstrong brothers, Matthew and Richard, sons of William Nevins Armstrong, with their families, arrived in Honolulu, June 19th, and left Aug. 8th, promising to belong to the "Come-back Club." There were five in the party: Matthew C. Armstrong and his wife, Grace Taylor Armstrong, and their daughter, Bess, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Armstrong. They have long wanted to visit their aunt, Mrs. Ellen A. Weaver, and the home of their ancestors, but this is the first time they have made the trip. They were afraid, Mr. M. Armstrong said, that after hearing all their lifetime of the beauties, hospitality and commercial possibilities of the islands, that they might be disappointed, but they found the reports more than true. He says that as a tourist he knows of no place where he can get, in such a small area, the different classes of scenery, climate and people. He was especially pleased with their trip around Hawaii, which seemed like a trip around a small world, with its wonderfully varied scenery and industries. On Maui, too, he had his surprises in the good roads and the largest extinct volcano in the world. Molokai, Kauai and Oahu have their places of interest with views that can not be surpassed anywhere in the world. The Armstrongs were intensely interested in the Old Mission House, the great coral church where they saw the tablet erected to their grandfather's memory, the very trees planted by their grandmother's hand, the flute on which their "Uncle Sam" (General S C. Armstrong) played when a young man, and a photograph of the "Averick," the brig their grandparents came on, as carved on a whale's tooth. A very treasure-house of interest they found in these headquarters and came again and again. The Armstrong Brothers were great athletes in their younger days and have an athletic record among the Yale alumni that their friends are proud to remember. They visited their cousins on Maui, the Armstrong Home at Wailuku and ascended Haleakala.

Mrs. Millie Beckwith Hair held a family reunion in July at her home at Hamakuapoko, Maui, where were gathered, besides her own scattered family, the Hampton cousins with Phil Weaver, his wife and daughters, Mary and Ida. Miss Dorothy Hair is in business in Honolulu. Miss Margaret graduated from Pomona College in June, 1923, and, after an absence of four years, is at home teaching in the Hamakuapoko school. Doris, the youngest daughter, was a winner of one of the D. A. R. scholarships and is a student at the University of Hawaii where her brother Ted is a sophomore. On September 6, 1922, a son, Donald Beckwith Bullock, was born in Wuchong, China, to A. Archibald and Ruth Beckwith Bullock.

In General S. C. Armstrong's family, a "bonny wee boy," named for his great-grandfather, Richard Armstrong, was born January 12th, 1924, to Margaret Marshall Armstrong Howe and Arthur Howe, a professor in the Taft School for Boys, Watertown, Conn. This is the fourth child.

Last year we recorded the death of B. R. Banning, the last of the Clara Armstrong family. He left quite a fortune to his two aunts, Miss Amelia Armstrong and Mrs. Ellen A. Weaver.

On August 25, 1923, Miss Amelia H. Armstrong, youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Richard Armstrong, died at Berkeley, California, leaving of the original family only Mrs. Weaver.

Mrs. Weaver has made her daughter, Mrs. Henrietta Fangel, her son-in-law, Morgan Akin Jones, her daughter-in-law, Agnes Weaver, and her two grand-daughters, Mary and Ida Weaver, members of the Cousins' Society. Mrs. Henrietta Weaver Fangel fell on a stone floor in Florence, Italy, and dislocated her hip on January 9th; was attended by a fine surgeon and is recovering rapidly. She writes with emphasis, Mrs. Weaver says, of the kindness of her Italian friends who seem to think she represents the United States and must be tenderly cared for. Mrs. Agnes Weaver spent the month of December in Honolulu. Miss Ida is taking a special course at the University of Hawaii, while Miss Mary returned to California for the year.

Bailey (E.)—A letter from Mrs. L. D. Bailey, wife of James Bailey, comes from Hamakuapoko, Maui, whence she had gone after being burnt out in the Berkeley fire of September 16, 1923. She came at the invitation of her son Grant, arriving September 30th. Since then she has "been enjoying the beautiful Wailuku mountains and grand old Haleakala," after being absent forty-three years. She expects to be in Honolulu in May, on her way to California. About two years ago she enjoyed a short stay with Charles A. Bailey and his wife Jessie, calling on Caroline at the library in the afternoon, when returning from Mt. Hermon. Charles and Jessie have a lovely little home in Los Gatos, and while they both are frail, they seem to be "growing old gracefully." Mr. and Mrs. Bazata they see quite often as they live near. Their daughter Elizabeth is attending Mills College. Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey, Jr., lost their little child and are traveling in Europe. Mrs. Bailey's oldest grandson, James W. Bailey, and his wife Minnie with little Margery, three years old, are living in Alameda. Her son Austin is a very busy man, as are also her son Grant and his wife. "Everybody rushes here," she says, "same as in California. These automobiles and aeroplanes, my, it is hard to keep the pace. I am perfectly willing to sit down and look on."

A letter, mailed April 7th, came from Mae Bailey Zumwalt, at San Antonio, Texas. She says Captain McGarrigle was detailed to Fort Sam Houston in October. In the same month, on the 19th, a dear little baby girl arrived at the home in Athens, Ga. She was baptized Madeline Mae. Later she says, "Our little girl has been very near the 'other shore' with pneumonia, and we have moved again to other quarters, infinitely better in every way. Mrs. Zumwalt writes that her brother George is in charge of the Kahului Club House in the absence of Mrs. Dale, and also supervises the building of some roadway at Kahului.

Baldwin (D.)—In the D. D. Baldwin branch, we hear of a happy silver wedding, that of Duncan Bell and May Baldwin Murdoch. The celebration took place at the Paia Community House, conjointly with that of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Nicoll, who were also married in August, 1898, and many Maui residents, old and young, were invited for the occasion. Mr. Murdoch has been appointed district magistrate of Makawao, Maui. The son, Walter Murdoch, left for the mainland early in September. On August 8, 1923, a grand-daughter, Barbara Joyce Hall, came into the Murdoch family. Mrs. May Baldwin Murdoch has recently sent the Treasurer twenty dollars to make her daughter, Lois Murdoch Hall, and grand-daughter, Barbara Joyce Hall, members of the Cousins' Society. Sherman Hall, husband of Lois, is a civil engineer from Camden, Maine, now employed by the Maui Irrigation Company. Mrs. C. W. Baldwin, with her son and daughter, Morris and Olive, have just sailed from the mainland. Mrs. B. D. Baldwin was hostess to the children of Makaweli, Kauai, at their annual Christmas tree at the Club House. Mrs. Paul Baldwin was one of her assistants. The tree was brilliant with lights and decorations and Santa Claus was there to see that all were provided with candy, ice cream, cake and gifts.

Mrs. H. P. Baldwin, on November 22, entertained for her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Baldwin of Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baldwin greatly enjoyed their island homecoming. In June Mrs. W. D. Baldwin and family returned from the mainland, and in September her husband, Dr. Baldwin, saw her off again with their two daughters, Charlotte and Virginia, who will attend the Santa Barbara School for Girls. Their cousin, Frances Baldwin, daughter of W. A. Baldwin, accompanied them. Their brother, Dwight Holbrook, remained to attend the Hamakuapoko High School this year. The family of Frank F. Baldwin are enjoying their new home at Ulupalakua (the old Makee property in monarchial days), and are said to be restoring its former beauty. The son, Edward, will not return to the University of Virginia, but will remain at Ulupalakua. The brothers, Asa and Lawrence, went back to school, their parents going to the Coast with them. They thoroughly enjoyed their vacation, having been in the crater of Haleakala twice and in cattle drives and polo practice. All are interested in the engagement of Miss Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Baldwin, but Madam Rumor has not yet made known the date of the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Baldwin have been occupying their beautiful city home since September, that their children may have the benefit of Punahou schools.

Bingham (H.)—"Hiram Bingham Moseley died a few months ago," writes a friend of his from Castle Rock, Colorado, where he passed away on December 6, 1923.

On September 27, a little son, Martin Ideler, came to our musical Cousins, Edwin H. and Pearl Sutherland Ideler, in New York City. Mrs. Lillian C. Crocker Brown, in March, wrote from her home at Wilmette, Illinois, of the marriage some time since of her sister Catherine Crocker to Henry Seeley Thomas. They have moved to 1758 Willard Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. They have a baby daughter named Sara Elizabeth Thomas, born November 19, 1923, in Washington, D. C. Mr. and Mrs. Brown, with their two children, expect to take a world trip, starting westward in June, and are looking forward to two weeks in Honolulu—their first stop.

Miss Kate Reynolds sent with her Christmas aloha, a little folder, "The Realm of Remembrance," written by her brother, Charles R. Reynolds.

Hiram Bingham III. did not return with his family to spend their summer vacation at Kula, Maui, as they at one time planned to do, but went to Europe instead. To Paris we hear "they went by an air express," and at Paris they "hopped into an airplane, put their baggage into another air-liner and were in London in two hours without the inconvenience of a rough channel crossing." It was quite a contrast to the manner of their grand-parents' traveling!

Bishop (A.)—Of Mrs. Jane (Bishop) Hillebrand's two children, Helen is the wife of William Robert Inge Dalton, M. D., and resides in Seattle, Washington, with her husband and daughter, Thelma Louise Dalton. Mary, as Mrs. A. C. Alexander, is recorded among the Alexander families.

The two children of Rev. Dr. Sereno and Mrs. Cordelia Bishop are Mrs. Jonathan Shaw of Honolulu and John Sessions Bishop, M. D., who, with his wife, Alice (Moore) Bishop, remains at Forest Grove, Oregon. Their daughter-in-law, Margaret Burton Bishop, was married in Berkeley, California, December 15, 1922, to Fred W. Stone, and their home will be Morgan Hill, California. Miss Helen Cornelia Bishop is acting as Dean of Women during the summer at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Mrs. Della Bishop Shaw has a charming bungalow home on a hill top in Manoa, named Moani Lehua for the special wind that sweeps over the sightly spot and for the wise old owl who guarded it in the long ago. These have been illustrated as fireside and mantlepiece decorations by the artist daughter, Jessie Shaw Fisher. Here Miss Ruth of the faculty of the Territorial Normal School gets inspiration.

Miss Margaret F. Shaw spends summers at Camp Hanoun, Vermont, as a Councilor. Next fall she begins work on her Ph. D. at Ohio State University. The subject of her thesis is Germination of Native Plants. It will take two years, including summers, as it takes some plants that long to germinate. Margaret took the first prize this year in flower arrangement in the contest of the "Garden Magazine."

Mrs. Jessie Fisher has this year illustrated the little book, "Child Songs of Hawaii" prepared by Miss Ermine Cross head of the Dorothy Castle Kindergarten, and set to music by Mrs. Elsa Cross, organist at Central Union Church. Mrs. Shaw spends many hours among her flowers that seem to burst into bloom at her loving touch, with her delicious vegetables that grow luxuriantly just over the rise, with her fowls that come at her call, and in artistically fitting becoming hats to faces faded but endeared by the fingers of Time.

Bond (E.)—Rev. Elias and Mrs. Bond have been brought vividly before us this year by an interesting article written by our President Ethel Damon and published in the July "Friend," page 164. The same paper gives an account of the school, "Kohala Seminary," as it was first called, founded by Father and Mother Bond, and of the Kohala Church.

Mrs. James Bicknell, in her beautiful home at Manoa, was hostess in June at a delightful entertainment given Misses Caroline and Julia Bond who were guests of Mrs. Henry Bicknell for a time. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bicknell spent a week-end, their seventeenth wedding anniversary, at Waiahole, windward Oahu, where they spent their honeymoon in 1906. They then motored on to their beach home at Hauula. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, Ellen Bicknell, sold their home on Alewa Heights and located on their California ranch near Santa Cruz. Here they see Miss Helen Wilder occasionally.

Dr. B. D. Bond, after forty years as Government Physician at Kohala, Hawaii, resigned in December, 1923. While a young man, preparing himself to become a medical missionary in India, he was called to minister to the physical ailments of the people of Kohala, included in a radius of from 30 to 40 miles, over mountains and into gulches and away down to the sea. Later he was not only Government Physician and Surgeon, but was employed by the five plantations of that part of Hawaii and of course by the Kohala Girls' School. But at the age of "three score years and ten" he leaves his life work and turns to other interests. For the present Dr. and Mrs. Bond, with Miss Caroline and Miss Julia, are spending these spring months at the Thayer Alewa Heights home, during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Thayer in the Orient. On October 30th a little grandson, Benjamin Howell Bond, Jr., was welcomed into the home of their son, Benjamin Howell Bond.

Mr. William Lee Bond writes from West Branch, Michigan, and with Mrs. Bond sends good wishes and aloha to Cousins one and all. He says, "I wish I could be with you in singing 'Greenland's Icy Mountain' at the Annual Meeting!" His son Gerald is in his freshman year at college and will go from there to Yale for the last two years of his college course. Frank is in his junior year in the High School at West Branch, of which his brother Berle is superintendent.

William Storey is in the Senior class at Punahou and is one of the five selected to help make out the program for Commencement night.

Castle (S. N.)—Mrs. Mary Castle Hitchcock remains in Hilo, a magnet to draw all the relatives back from abroad. With her is always the devoted daughter Harriet, who in turn gathers about her the nieces and nephews from the other islands. Our ever-active Harriet Castle Coleman moved in January from Pacific Heights to Waikiki where she is slowly recovering from her recent illness.

W. R. Castle celebrated his 75th birthday on March 19th and was given quite an ovation by some of his old friends. The Cousins, too, would add their congratulations, for he has been a stirring member since boyhood and has filled every office from head of the "Veranda Brigade" to that of President.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Castle, with Miss Beatrice left Honolulu in May, 1923, and returned in November. They attended the wedding of Miss Rosamond, daughter of W. R. Castle, Jr. Miss Rosamond Castle was married in Washington, D. C., on October 20, 1923, to Alan F. Winslow, Secretary of the American Legation, and their home is in Berne, Switzerland. In September, A. L. Castle, president of the Rapid Transit Company, and Mrs. Castle sailed for the Coast enroute to Washington, D. C. Miss Beatrice Castle, since her return from the mainland has given her energies unstintedly to the interests of the Outdoor Circle, of which she is president. She is also an active worker on our cemetery committee.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Castle were made happy in June by a visit of their children Prof. and Mrs. Alfred Tozzer of Harvard and their little girls Anne and Joan.

Mrs. James B. Castle left in October for San Francisco, expecting to spend the winter in New York. Mr. Harold Castle spent part of the summer at Makawao where he was superintending the building of a log cabin at Mahuilani. He was one of the polo players on the Makawao polo field. Mr. and Mrs. Castle left January 4th for a trip in Asia, expecting to tour Japan, China and India, Mr. Castle hoping to do some big game hunting in India.

Rev. and Mrs. Westervelt spent the summer on the mainland, attending the conventions, etc., and trying to rest. Then Mrs. Westervelt came home and buried herself in Near East Relief work, giving of time, money, strength and personal influence in making the drive a success. But while concentrating her energies upon the Near East Relief, she joined her husband in giving money for a swimming tank at the Nuuanu Y. M. C. A., thus winning the gratitude of many young people of many nationalities, and remembering, through it all, the children of her own Central Union Sunday School. Andrew Westervelt is enjoying his first year at Oberlin College.

Mr. Henry Mead and family again spent the summer at his seaside home, Laie, Oahu.

Chamberlain (L.)--Rev. and Mrs. Horace W. Chamberlain, rejuvenated after life on "Aloha Farm," have returned to their life work in the ministry. He is now, February 26, 1924, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Rascommon, Michigan. Our Treasurer is just now taking a deserved rest of a fortnight on Molokai, expecting to return for a meeting of Punahou trustees on April 8 and have time to prepare for the Cousins' Annual Meeting, April 19th. No one but our former treasurer, L. A.

Dickey, can realize the hours and days spent and the brain-work expended in making the necessary changes and keeping in order the minutes of the finances of our Society. All praise to the Treasurer for these statistics which we often pass by as "dry reading." Young Warren Chamberlain is now a Junior at Punahou. His sister Clio is in the Sophomore class, and little Allie is in the 6th grade at Punahou.

Mrs. Helen Chamberlain Ives has sold her home at Pecatonica, as her husband, Dr. Ives, is no longer here and her children are all married. Dr. Warren C. Ives has a new address, 1516 W. State St., Rockford, Illinois.

Mrs. Helen Chamberlain Aiken, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James Chamberlain, with her husband, Worth O. Aiken, a pine-apple planter of Maui, spent some time in Southern California, motoring from Los Angeles to San Francisco and stopping, as so many island people do, at the Clift Hotel. They were accompanied by their daughter Martha who had spent her summer vacation at her island home and was now on her way to continue her studies in Boston. There were tourists calling here in March, and studying the Picture-pillar, who recognized faces as very like the Chamberlains they knew. Even in the records they found the same names. "I feel sure," said one man, "that we belong to the same branch."

Clark (E. W.)—Alvah Clark's daughter, Mrs. Emma Clark Scott, with her husband, John A. Scott, is living on Keeaumoku street. Their daughter, Margaret Scott Hughes with her two children, Richard Lyon and Margaret Virginia Hughes, makes her home with her parents. Mrs. Hughes is active in church and Y. W. C. A. work and is a member of the Board of Managers of the H. M. C. Society. Richard and Virginia attend Elementary Punahou School. Mrs. Hughes is President of the Woman's Society of Central Union Church.

Stafford Austin is in his new home near Hilo. Herbert A. R. Austin is assistant city engineer, Honolulu. Dr. Baker is still in charge of Kalihi Union Church, which is making progress, several new members having recently united with the church. The Government has been donating prison labor to help in making long needed improvements on the grounds. This is because the grounds are devoted to Community Welfare Work, being used every day of the week, except Sundays, for athletic activities. Mrs. Baker is helping in the Kalihi Sunday School, which now has an average attendance of about 170 pupils of as many nationalities as live on Hawaii. Mrs. Baker is also quite active in the Woman's Board of Missions of Central Union Church. A. L. Silverman, teacher of English at Punahou, husband of Violet Austin, is taking a post-graduate course at the University of California. Unfortunately they were situated in the district devastated by the Berkeley fire and lost many valuable articles.

Ernest B. Clark, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, with his family, returned from a visit on the coast. Montgomery Clark is a sophomore at the University of Hawaii, while little Kathleen is in the Elementary School at Punahou.

Miss Helen Severance has made several visits to Honolulu, at one time taking her "Aunt Annie" Clark Gulick home with her for a few weeks' change.

In June, Mrs. Caroline Clark Balding moved from Judd Street to her new home up Nuuanu Valley, 111 Dowsett Avenue. Albert Clark Balding, youngest son of Mrs. Balding, died Nov. 17 from the effects of an accident in a football game. He was a pupil at Punahou and only 13 years of age. Her daughter, Caroline Hamlin Balding, was married Jan. 5, 1924, to Leo Malvin Harkins.

Albert Barnes Clark, assistant cashier at the Bank of Hawaii, resides with his sister, Mrs. Balding, in her valley home.

Condé (D. T.)—A note to L. A. Dickey, some months ago, bids us in the future to please forward all mail matter for him to Peoria, Illinois, P. O. Box No. 111.

Cooke (A. S.)—Mrs. J. P. Cooke and daughter, Miss Emily M., returned from the Orient in June. In September, Miss Emily, with her friend, Miss Hilda Von Holt, sailed for the mainland and are studying art in New York City. Miss Cooke's water-color painting was accepted in the Water Color Exhibit in New York. Mr. and Mrs. J. Platt Cooke made a visit to Ulupalakua Ranch last summer. This beautiful and romantic old ranch on leeward Haleakala, for many years owned by "the Makees," was noted for its beauty and hospitality and was a favorite resort of royalty. It is now owned by F. F. Baldwin. Mr. Cooke is treasurer for "Alexander & Baldwin," and his family resides in Nuuanu Valley. Henry and Douglas Cooke arrived from Yale in June. Henry is in the Hawaiian Trust Company. Douglas returned to Yale.

The Atherton branch of the Cooke family appear under various names. Mr. Theodore Richards, at the 101st meeting of the Evangelical Association, was unanimously re-elected treasurer. On June 1st, Mrs. Richards and daughter, Polly (Mary T.,) sailed for the mainland, where they visited. As Mr. Frank Midkiff has taken President Webster's place in the Kamehameha schools, he and his wife (Ruth Richards) make their home there and Mrs. Midkiff devotes her social talents to making life brighter for teachers and pupils. In November, Mr. C. H. Atherton went to Kilauea and returned with his wife and grand-daughter, Anna May Guard, who had been visiting the Hawaiian National Park. A son, Richard Franklin Guard, came to the home of John Buel and Juliet Atherton Guard in August. Later Mr. and Mrs. Guard took a trip to the coast, returning in October. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atherton, with the children and Mrs. Atherton's mother, Mrs. Simpson, left in June and spent some months in various places along the North Pacific coast. Miss Marjorie Atherton is a senior at Punahou.

Mrs. Anna C. Cooke is planning, we hear, a gift to the city of the present site of her downtown home for a museum, in which will be stored her wonderful collection of art treasures. Mrs. C. M. Cooke held a reception in June, honoring her nieces, the Misses Martha and Anna Cooke, just home for a vacation. In September, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Cooke celebrated their silver wedding by holding a large reception at their home on Keeaumoku Street. Misses Martha and Anna returned to college in September, and later Mrs. C. H. Cooke and Dorothea visited the Orient, remaining some months. George P. Cooke became manager of Molokai Ranch in June, 1923, after the tragic death of former manager E. E. Conant. His wife, with the youngest three children and their governess, joined him in the fall. The older children were left at Punahou. Theodore Cooke has been on Molokai helping his brother. Richard Cooke is vice-president and manager of C. Brewer & Co. Mrs. Richards is very active in the Outdoor Circle and in the women's political affairs. Mrs. P. E. Spalding has been very helpful to our president in beautifying the grounds.

Miss Margaret Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cooke, has been assisting at Y. W. C. A. in the Corrective Gymnastic Department. In February, 1924, she left for a trip to South America.

Damon (S. C.)—Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Damon still reside in beautiful Moanalua. Mrs. Henry F. Damon has gone to England and Scotland to visit her son and daughter. Mr. Douglas Damon left on the Buford in February with his cousin, Daphne Damon, for a cruise among the South Sea Islands, expecting to be gone about three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Roxor Damon, son of E. C. Damon, with their daughter, Kathra, returned in December from their visit on the mainland. A brother, Maurice S. Damon, after an absence of twenty-five years, re-visited his native land. Though temporarily crippled by an accident that occurred some months ago, he was delighted to be again in his home town and among his childhood friends, and to introduce to them his wife, formerly Miss Cornelia Gray, of Albany. William Francis Damon was the only one of the E. C. Damon circle absent from the family reunion up Nuuanu Valley at the home of Mrs. Julie Damon Giffard in January, 1924. Miss Ethel Damon and Mrs. Giffard brought their sister-in-law to see the Old Mission Home and the photographs of the Damon forebears. Mrs. Giffard spent some of the summer months on the coast. Since then she has been one of the patronesses of "Better Homes Week," and the girls of the Salvation Army Home consider her a "ministering angel." Miss Ethel Damon made a short trip to the coast in September. In the May, 1923, "Friend" appeared a paper by Miss Damon, written for the Annual Meeting; in the July number accounts of Hilo Boys' Boarding School and Kohala Girls' School, and the March "Friend" has a historical sketch of Punahou and something of the legends.

Mrs. F. W. Damon, with her two daughters, Mrs. F. L. Putman and Miss Daphne Damon, summered in the delightful climate of Kula, Maui. Cyril F. Damon, a director of Bishop Trust Co., Ltd., and auditor of the H. M. C. Society, was in Paris, France, in June, visiting his sister, Vera, who was spending the summer there with the Carter party. He returned by way of New York City and was married on June 23 to Miss Muriel Colgate of Morristown, N. J. Miss Colgate visited in Honolulu last year. In October, Mrs. F. W. Damon announced the engagement of her second daughter, Vera Mary, to Mr. Luther Lay Gadd of New York City, and the marriage was solemnized in the little Hawaiian church at Moanalua. Forty small children formed the aisle from the driveway to the door of the chapel. Miss Daphne Damon was maid of honor and Miss Beatrice Castle acted as bridesmaid. Two little flower girls, Betty Lou Dillingham and Joan Dowsett, scattered flowers in the pathway of the bride, who came leaning on the arm of her brother Cyril. The groom was attended by former Governor George R. Carter, and the ushers were Dr. Frank L. Putman, Bernard Damon and Douglas Damon. A reception was held in the home of the bride's mother. For only a few days they remained in Hawaii and then departed for their home in New York City. Mrs. F. W. Damon not only received into her family a new son and daughter, but a grand-daughter also, Geraldine Damon Putman, the daughter of Frank L. and Violet Happer Damon Putman.

Since the last was written we hear of the passing in Paris, France, of Heather Jean Damon of Moanalua. Miss Damon had been in Europe about two years, studying art. She was ill but a short time and her mother was with her till she left.

Dibble (S.)—Mrs. Grace P. Haven keeps very busy at Maunaolu Seminary. She gives the address of her sister, Mrs. Clara Sheldon Cowperthwaite, as 1361 Irving Street, N. W., Apartment 26, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Cowperthwaite is very happy over the little grandson, James Pierpoint Cowperthwaite Jr., who entered their home about Thanksgiving time. Her other sister, Mrs. James L. Drum, lives at 1923 Haste Street, Berkeley, Calif.

Dimond (H.)—The legacy left by Mrs. Ann Maria Dimond Stangenwald has been well used in educating two girls at Maunaolu. One of these graduated last year and is making her home with one of her teachers in Missouri. The other has a good record in school, as has also the girl who takes Marion's place. So we feel that Mrs. Stangenwald is living through these girls. Mrs. Anna Hobron, in June, made a short visit in Honolulu with her daughter, Mrs. Austin Jones. After returning to Berkeley, as an old friend of Miss Amelia Armstrong, she remained with her during her illness and until she passed away. Miss Armstrong, we hear, left her a handsome legacy. Mrs. Henry Waterhouse and Miss Nora Sturgeon returned from the mainland in October and are busy in various good works. Mrs. Eleanor Waterhouse Wood writes: "Aloha, a word of greeting for the Annual Meeting from the Arthur B. Woods and the Henry Allyn Woods in California. The former are still in Berkeley, where they enjoy the frequent meetings with the Cousins, who are traveling on the mainland. The latter are living in Burlingame this year and have found very pleasant companionship with the Norman Doles, who are neighbors there. A little auburn-haired daughter brings much happiness into the home, and it is hard for those of my generation to realize that we are grandparents." The letter continues:

"We read of the hookupu of books that will be held at this meeting, and while we can not contribute from this distance, may I pass on a bit of information that may interest some of you who would like to add to the collection at some future time. We have a neighbor who makes a hobby of collecting old books. He sends to England and Europe for hundreds of volumes. Books of travel seem his favorites and I have seen a great many in his library that relate to the islands. I do not know whether he keeps all that he collects, but some time it might be wise to ask him to pass on any that will not fit into his library. At least, not sell them to anyone else before advising with the librarian of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society. His name is Dr. Charles A. Kofoid, and his wife, by the way, is a member of the Cousins. She was Miss Winter in Kawaiahao in the nineties. Aloha again to you all."

Dole (D.)—Charles S. Dole, with his sister, Dr. Emily Dole, of Honolulu, and three friends, made the ascent of Waialeale, Kauai, in February. Miss Clara Dole has returned to Riverside and is making her home with her brother Ethelbert's family. She had been keeping house for her brother Elwyn in Montana before his marriage. Elwyn Dole was married August 14, 1923, at Lake Comorant, Minn. A little daughter, Anne Dole, was welcomed into the family of Kenneth L. and Anne Van Winkle Dole on August 17, 1923, at Redlands, Calif. Walter S. Dole writes from Albuquerque, N. M., and sends installments for membership for his "four youngsters." He travels among gas companies, with present headquarters at Springfield, Mo.

Hon. Sanford B. Dole, President of the Provisional Government of Hawaii, 1893-1895; President of the Republic of Hawaii, 1895-1898; first Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, and since 1903 United States Federal Judge, celebrated his 80th birthday on April 23, 1924. A morning serenade, congratulations galore, with loads of flowers, greeted the morning hours, and at an 8 o'clock breakfast he entertained for Mrs. Agnes Judd, W. R. Castle, Beatrice Castle, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Castle, Mrs. Belle Dole, Mrs. Newcome, Miss Jessamine Low, Eben Low, Miss Emily Dole and Charles Dole. Later he was the guest of honor at a dinner given by Governor and Mrs. Wallace R. Farrington, at which there were about fifty guests.

Dwight (S. G.)—Mrs. Ellen Dwight left for San Francisco on June 1st with her daughter, Mrs. C. W. Spitz, and child, and after spending the summer returned in September.

Emerson (J. S.)—Arthur W. Emerson held another exhibit of his paintings and portraits at his studio on King Street, opposite the Young Hotel.

We received an interesting letter from Lieut. Philip L. Emerson, U. S. S. Zeilin, Bremerton, Wash., who wished us to have his new address, lest he should miss something from our office. Quoting from his letter, "It is with regret that one reads of the passing of the older generations of Cousins, among them my father, Justin E. Emerson, for to me they seem the last direct link between us and the original 'grand old pioneers.' It is my constant hope that I may be permitted to visit the scenes of my grandfather's labors." The health of Mrs. Justin Emerson was quite broken after Dr. Emerson's death last year and she went to the noted sanitarium at Battle Creek, Mich., where she remained some months. Our good wishes follow her for a speedy and complete recovery.

Oliver H. Emerson, since his graduation at Harvard, has been located at Kilauea as one of the Volcano Observatory staff, where work is unique and interesting.

Forbes (C.)—The great event in the Forbes family this year is the decision of Theodore Forbes, now at Oberlin, to give two years of his life to Chinese Mission work before taking up a post-graduate course of study. He will return to Honolulu this summer, on his way to the Orient. His parents go to Oberlin to see him graduate and return with him.. Theodore, like Luther Halsey Gulick of two generations ago, is a kind of pioneer in his family, blazing his way into new fields of usefulness. With the martial blood that runs in his veins, he is ready to "go forth to conquer" ignorance and evil and to help bring the victory for peace. He was a prizewinner among the "Boys' Working Reserves" during the war and has spent most of his vacations in business and in acquiring real experience for his life work. Frederick and Marion Forbes are also enjoying Oberlin this year.

Green (J. S.)—Miss Laura Green's pamphlet, "Hawaiian Stories and Wise Sayings," published in collaboration with Miss Martha Beckwith, the third in Miss Beckwith's series of Hawaiian folk-lore at Vassar College, was presented by her to the Cousins' Society. For three years she has assisted Miss Beckwith in collecting and translating Hawaiian folk-lore, and Vassar is fortunate in having one so thoroughly conversant with the language and habits of the Hawaiian people.

When calling upon Mrs. J. P. Green one day it seemed to me that, though still a "shut-in," she had gathered together all the scraps of good news and good wishes and embroidered them, with love and sunny thoughts, into a covering of rest and peace—she seemed so content. Mr. Henry Green came from the sanitarium on the coast greatly improved. Slowly his eyesight is returning and many things that had been blotted from his memory are coming back. He takes long walks, is careful as to his diet and hopes in time he may quite recover. The "flu" has strange ways of registering its attacks. W. W. Thayer, with his wife (Rhoda Green) and mother, left Honolulu in late February for a three months' trip to the Orient. Letters have been received, telling of pleasant experiences and thrilling adventures. Mrs. Thayer, president of the Humane Society, worked very hard during the past year, caring for crippled children as well as looking after the good of animals.

Gulick (P. J.)—The large Gulick family, for decades unbroken, have come to the parting of the ways. We recorded last year the death of Rev. Wm. H. Gulick on April 14, 1922. He had been for forty years a missionary in Spain. He was preceded for a short time by a nephew, Dr. Walter V. Gulick, son of Theodore W.

Gulick, and followed by a niece, Mrs. Harriet Gulick Clark, wife of Rev. Cyrus A. Clark, of Japan. On April 14, 1923, one year after his death, just as the Cousins were gathering at their annual meeting, Dr. John F. Gulick quietly slipped away at the age of 91. Only five months later, at the age of 93, the saintly life of Rev. Orramel H. Gulick ended here, to be glorified among the saints above. Blessed be their memory!

Say not their light has gone out. Thirty-three years ago the eldest brother, Luther Halsey Gulick, laid down his work with his life, but his children caught up the torch he bore and we all know the work they are doing. Dr. Sidney L. Gulick, as secretary of the Commission of International Justice and Good-will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, is doing a world-wide work in his father's line and literally following the command, "Go into every land and preach the Gospel." In June, Dr. Sidney Gulick passed through Honolulu, after completing a tour of the Orient. He had found the Orient and the United States growing more and more in sympathy and understanding. He had met hundreds of missionaries, native pastors and native Christians, and was welcomed by business men and official leaders. His business in the Orient, he said, was to carry the message of the churches of America and to tell them of the campaign for the absolute abolition of war.

Rev. Cyrus A. Clark, for thirty-five years a missionary in Japan, passed through Honolulu in April, 1923. Less than six months before this he had laid the sacred ashes of his wife, Harriet Gulick Clark, beside those of her mother in the Kobe cemetery.

In the fall Prof. F. F. Jewett and Mrs. Sarah Frances Gulick Jewett arrived from Oberlin to spend the winter, and until March were the guests of Mrs. W. A. Bowen. They found the rest here very beneficial, and to Mrs. Jewett it seemed almost a return to her girlhood. So they decided to make Honolulu their home, sent for their household effects and transferred their membership to Central Union Church.

Mrs. Charlotte V. Gulick, widow of L. H. Gulick II and founder of the Campfire Girls, spent some months here during the winter. The Wellesley girls had a luncheon in her honor at the Y. W. C. A. building and the Zonta Club of young women also gave a luncheon. On each occasion Mrs. Gulick gave a talk about the Campfire Girls, and the two camps in Maine—little Wohelo, for girls 10 years old and younger, and Sebago Wohelo, for older girls. Each have their own swimming place, with gayly-painted boats, gardening, haying, pottery-making, horseback-riding and pony cars. They teach weaving, jewelry-making and give plays of their own interpretation. They have wholesome and joyous work, health for the growing mind and body, and love for each other. Lake Sebago is 25 miles from Portland, with a mile of shore front; 200 acres of forest land, and back of it all the White Mountains appearing against the sky. There are the Luther Gulick camps and headquarters of the Camp-fire Girls, founded by Mrs. Gulick.

There is another camp at Fairlee, Vt., Camp Aloha, founded by Rev. Edward Gulick of Brookline, Mass. Here, on June 30, Miss Harriet Farnsworth Gulick became the bride of Eugene McKinley Pierce.

Rev. O. H. Gulick passed from us so recently that he seems still to be missed everywhere—at the church services, morning and evening, and at the mid-week meeting, at school commencements and at Y. M. C. A. gatherings. The Hawaiians miss him at their large adult Bible class, at many Hawaiian meetings and in their Hawaiian paper, of which he was editor. He is missed by the Japanese, who came to him for counsel. He is missed by three nations as an interpreter, for the laying of cornerstones and the dedication of churches, and he is missed by the Cousins and by the Hawaiian Board of Missions, of which he was an integral part. But while we realize what Mr. Gulick has been to Hawaii and Japan we are glad of his release and home-going.

The autobiography of Dr. John T. Gulick is now being published under the care of his wife and son. Dr. Addison, with his family, spent some weeks in Honolulu, helping his mother in editing his father's writings for publication. They visited Kilauea and other places of interest, as this was the first time his family had been in Hawaii. Mrs. John Gulick returned with her son to the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., where she is strenuously engaged in putting her husband's books through the press. Dr. Addison Gulick has just written a pamphlet entitled, "John T. Gulick, a Contributor to Evolutionary Thought," and has kindly sent a copy to the Cousins' Society.

Rev. Theodore Gulick passed away April 7, 1924, at the home of his son, James Hervey Gulick, at Long Beach, Calif.

Miss Julia Gulick, whose very life it was to go about like a ministering angel, doing good, has been a "shut-in" since February 6th. The day previous was "Woman's Board of Missions Day" and she was there, as usual, interpreting for Japanese friends. The next morning she was unable to rise. She has so far recovered as to go out for a drive.

Hall (E. O.)—Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Hall, arriving here in 1832, left Honolulu, March, 1839, for Oregon, taking a small printing press with them, and for a year helped the Oregon people to put the language of the Indians in printed form. They returned home in June of the following year. A paper by Howard M. Ballou, prepared for our last year's Annual Meeting and printed in the May "Friend," forms quite an addition to our historical literature on this early mission press.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. White returned in September from a visit of more than a year on the mainland. They toured not only the United States but Canada, Alaska and the Panama Canal zone. Mr. White hunted deer in Maine and ducks in North Carolina, and made a good, long visit in California, his native state. Mr. White has three sons: Clifford F., head salesman of the old firm of E. O. Hall & Sons; Harry A. White, manager of California Packing Corp., residing at Wahiawa, and Austin H. White, foreman of the California Packing Corp. Clifford has two daughters, Henry a son and a daughter, and Austin has one daughter.

Miss Charlotte V. Hall sailed in October for her vacation on the mainland, visiting her brothers, Seymour and Philip, in Oakland, and returning in the springtime. She brought home with her her nephew, Houghton, son of Seymour Hall, to spend a year. He attends Punahou Academy, Punahou. Mr. and Mrs. M. Macintyre and family spent their summer months on the mainland, going as far East as Maine, where they visited their brother, Edwin O. Hall. Philip Hall personally conducted a party of "Lions" under the "Crabtree Tourist Agency" in March and thoroughly enjoyed the trip. Mrs. Hall favored Central Union Church with one of her lovely solos.

Mrs. Belle Jones has bought a home in the Dowsett Tract, next to that of her daughter, Margaret. Mrs. Austin Jones had a short visit from her mother, Mrs. Anna Hobron, in the early summer. J. Howard and Helen Jones Farrar have returned to make their home in Hawaii, much to the delight of their friends. Mr. Farrar is agent for the Fulton Iron Works of St. Louis. Mr. J. Howard and Margaret Jones Worrall welcomed their first son, Joseph Howard Worrall, brother of Nancy, Jane and Martha Worrall, in January, 1924. In June, Catherine Jones Richards gave a delightful picnic party at Mokuleia, where the day was spent in swimming and other seaside sports. Among those present were: Miss Emily Cooke, Henry and Douglas Cooke, Dick Gartley, Carol Moore and Herman Alexander. On Jan. 15, 1924, another son, Lawrence Philipps, came into the home of Russell and Catherine Jones Richards.

The engagement of Miss Ruth Gartley has just been announced. Richard Gartley is with the Bank of Hawaii. His brother, Alonzo, is still in school and their mother is engaged in all manner of good deeds.

Mrs. Alice Lewis will take her three children to summer in a Maine camp, and returning will leave Marion at Dobbs Ferry and Dudley at some boys' boarding school.

Hitchcock (H. R.)—Dickson Hitchcock, son of D. Howard Hitchcock, was married June 6th to Miss Ruth Virginia Mitchell in St. Andrew's Cathedral and a reception was held at the Hitchcock home. Miss Helen was bridesmaid. The young couple are now living in Hilo, where Mr. Hitchcock is seed selection expert for the Hilo Sugar Co. Mr. Harvey and his wife, Peggy (Campbell) Hitchcock are living in the Hitchcock home, 25 Judd Street, with their father. Miss Helen will graduate at Punahou in June and plans to go to Vassar College.

Mr. H. R. Hitchcock of Pukoo, Molokai, writes of his little Mary Emily, born May 8, 1920, and taken from them to a brighter home on April 20, 1923. The dear little casket was placed in the family cemetery at Kaluaaha, where her great-grandfather, the original Hitchcock, was buried. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snow, with their sister, Caroline, spent several months at the Westervelt home last summer during the absence of the latter on the mainland. Miss Caroline Snow is living now on Liliha Street, Honolulu. Miss Harriet Hitchcock and her mother are at present entertaining Mrs. Alice Newell Andrews, mother of Miss Lorraine Andrews. Mrs. Mabel Hitchcock Schoen, with her two boys, returned from the coast in June.

Hyde (C. M.)—Mr. Henry Hyde writes that his son-in-law has just received his appointment as director of the Harvard Summer School. Mr. Hyde spends about half his time in the bank, finding outside interests more profitable. We regret that a letter containing items of interest has been mislaid.

Ives (M.)—Miss Mary Brainard Ives, daughter of the late Harlan Page Ives, wrote in September, "The Seventy-first Annual Report was duly received and I was very happy that the picture reached you in time. The reproduction is very good, indeed. As a family we feel that we are favored in having a record of my father's life and connection with the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society in this report, and I wish to express my thanks to you for your interest and the pains which you have taken to have such a record.

"If it is possible to obtain them I should very much like to have four copies of the report, in addition to those which you have sent." Miss Ives also tells of the marriage in Norfolk, Va., Dec. 16, 1921, of Mildred, daughter of Robert Allyn and Susan Burt Ives, to Arthur Johnson Jr., and of their little son Robert, born in Richmond, Va., Oct. 9, 1922. Another marriage in the family was that of Dorothy Chase Ives, daughter of Jesse and Bessie Ives, to Myron Hawley Mansfield of Danbury, Conn., on Oct. 1, 1923. Her sister Winifred is a junior in the Danbury High School. Her father's only sister, Miss M. Nellie Ives, is living in Oakland, Calif., and spending her summers in Paradise, Calif.

A few lines quoted from a later letter from Miss Ives will be of interest to Cousins who knew Dr. Brown in Oakland:

"You may be interested in a pleasant conversation I had with Dean Charles Reynolds Brown of Yale a few weeks ago. My uncle, the Rev. Joseph B. Ives, spent some of his last years in Oakland, Calif., and was a parishioner of Dr. Brown's several years ago. When I spoke of my uncle to Dean Brown he exclaimed that he was a saint if there ever was one and recalled the devoted care he gave his invalid and helpless wife, bringing her to church in her wheeled chair.

"It happened that the evening that Dean Brown preached for us the choir sang several selections from 'The Messiah' and I observed that he gave very close attention, evidently enjoying the music exceedingly. He went on to say: 'You will be interested in this; when I was preaching in Oakland and the choir would sing "The Messiah," I always went back and sang bass with it. On such occasions I would ask your uncle into the pulpit to pronounce the benediction.'

"You can understand that I was pleased that he should remember these little incidents and relate them.

"Uncle Joseph was one of the boys, together with my father, whose young lives were associated with the Chamberlain House."

Johnson (E.)—Two years ago we recorded the home-going of Miss Abby Frances Johnson, the last of the original family of Rev. Edward and Lois Johnson, who came in the Fifth company on the ship Averick. When Miss Johnson was called to the higher life her mantle of loving service fell upon her niece and namesake, Bertha Frances Bindt. Now, on March 20, we have to record the sudden death yesterday of Miss Bindt. Like her aunt, she has always loved the society and was interested in all the Cousins. For years she has been a faithful and efficient teacher, first in the Royal School in Honolulu and then at Pearl City. A few years ago she adopted her brother's youngest son, Frank August Bindt, and he has been her inseparable companion.

Henry Bindt, Frank's oldest brother, graduated last year at the University of Hawaii, after taking a course at the Berkeley School for the Blind. Since his graduation he has written a number of articles for the daily papers. Arthur H. Bindt is an electrician for the Oahu Sugar Company, and is now beginning the study of law with the American Correspondence School of Law at Chicago, which has given him a scholarship. Walter Bindt, the other brother, has been promoted to the rank of quartermaster in the service of the Inter-island Steamship Company and has been assigned to the steamship "Likelike." The father of these boys is on the "Advertiser" staff. He has two brothers, Edward and Frank, both living in California.

Judd (G. P.)—Mrs. Laura Wilder Wight is rejoicing over the arrival in March, 1924, of her daughter, Leslie Wight Hurum, and her husband, Alfred Hurum, a musical composer of note from Christiania, Norway. This is the first time Mrs. Hurum has returned since her marriage and it is quite an event in this large family. Frank Wight has charge of the pumps at Waialua, Oahu. His two sons, Francis and Sam, attend Punahou and live with their grandmother, Mrs. Laura Wight. Samuel Gerrit Wight is on the Molokai ranch and has charge of the plant at Kaunakakai.

Mr. Gerrit P. Wilder's visit to Australia and the South Seas with other scientists from Hawaii was a pleasant and profitable experience. Mrs. Wilder felt very much the loss by death of her father, Captain Kimball, for whom she had cared so tenderly for four years. "Eskbank," the old Wilder homestead, has been sold to the Cemetery Association, a few lots only on Judd Street being reserved for private ownership. S. G. Wilder is now building a little bungalow between "Eskbank" and "Sweet Home." Miss Helen Wilder has sold her ranch at Watsonville, Calif., and moved into Santa Cruz.

James Wilder and family are at the Wilder home near the seaside at Waikiki. The son, James Harnden, was home for the summer of 1923, and the daughter, Kinau, for Christmas. James Wilder Jr. was selected this year as the best all-around student at Harvard and received the Fisk Memorial Scholarship for attendance at Trinity College, Cambridge, England. He is now attending Merton College at Oxford, England.

Of the C. H. Judd family, Rosamond Swanzy Morgan has taken an active part in the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Nora Swanzy Bennett of Hilo arrived with her husband from a visit in Los Angeles in September and spent a few weeks in Honolulu. In Hilo she is Commissioner of Hawaii Girl Scouts. Charles J. Farley and wife have welcomed a little son, Charles Judd Farley Jr., at Auburndale, Mass. Helen Haunani Judd, daughter of C. H. Judd, has married and is now living at Farmington, Me. Her father is manager of Kualoa Ranch, Oahu. The radio has brought Kualoa into close communication with the outer world, as they are able to "listen in" to tidings from New York and other distant cities.

Mrs. Laura (Dickson) Sherman and husband have returned after a year of travel in Europe. Her daughter, Laura Dowsett, has bought the spacious Allen Wilcox home in Dowsett Tract. J. S. B. Pratt Jr. has been appointed assistant manager of the McBride Plantation, Kauai. J. D. Pratt has gone from sugar to pineapples and is now at Wahiawa, Oahu. Miss Hester Pratt teaches history and geography at Punahou Academy. Catharine Pratt Field and husband are at Philadelphia, and in March welcomed their first child. Her mother, Mrs. J. S. B. Pratt, has gone to visit them. Dudley Pratt graduates at Yale Law School in June. Laura is at the University of Hawaii and much interested in dramatics. Margaret is attending the Sargent School at Boston. Her sister Hester accompanied her and they visited their sister Catharine Field, by the way, whom Margaret confides to her Aunt Agnes Judd, is "a perfect hostess."

The serious illness of Mrs. Agnes H. B. Judd in October brought a flying visit from her son Allan W. Judd, a resident of Crockett, Calif. Mrs. Judd has recovered and has made a long visit with her daughter Sophie (Judd) Cooke on Molokai. Mrs. Judd, first Regent Aloha Chapter, D. A. R., will donate and present a flag to the winning school in the flag contest. This is most fitting, as the society was formed at her husband's instigation and was organized in 1897 at their home on Nuuanu Avenue. Miss Agnes Judd, as Girl Scout Commissioner, is kept busy. At the invitation of the Pan-Pacific Union she delivered a talk by radio which was distinctly heard at Lihue, Kauai, and at Kaunakakai, Molokai. Dr. James Judd has greatly enjoyed a visit from a friend and companion in France, Dr. Salisbury. Lawrence M. Judd and wife made a four months' trip, beginning in August, touring the United States in the interests of Davies & Co.

George R. Carter and wife returned to Honolulu in November, after a year abroad—one month spent at Riviera, one in Egypt and much time with Paris as their headquarters. Since their return they have been planning a dental infirmary. In May they expect to sail for the mainland to see their son Robert graduate. Sybil Crehore Scribner and family have moved from Lihue, Kauai, to Honolulu and are living in the Weaver home on Liliha Street. Mr. Scribner is with the Honolulu Construction Company. Elizabeth Carter Bogardus and husband have returned to Honolulu. Mr. Bogardus is connected with the Bank of Bishop & Co. Martha Hartwell is happy at the Girls' School, Santa Barbara, Calif., where several other girl Cousins are located. Billy Hartwell (Alfred Stedman) went to California in February with his father and will be placed in a boarding school. Grace Carter Erdman sends "no especial news but my Aloha."

Kinney (H.)—Mrs. Selma and Miss Maud Kinney have moved to their new bungalow on the same grounds, but having the address on another street, 1412 Whitney Street.

Henry Walsworth Kinney and son Walsworth narrowly escaped death in the Japan disaster. The details are given in Mr. Kinney's article in the "Atlantic" for January. His eldest son Bishop is studying at the University of California. Miss Miriam, the daughter, is in school at Punahou, Honolulu. Mr. Kinney has written a second book and is now engaged in writing another about the earthquake.

Mrs. Kinney and daughter are members of the society, and as Mr. Henry Kinney and family are all eligible we would be glad to welcome them into the Cousinhood.

Loomis (E.)—Miss May E. Loomis wrote on April 14, 1924, from St. Cloud, Fla. Her hearing is no better and her general health very poor, but she thanks God for the Providence that sent to her Mrs. Baldwin with her continued kindnesses.

She encloses for the "hookupu" a historical letter written from Honolulu by Levi Chamberlain in November, 1830, to her grandfather, Elisha Loomis.

Lyman (D. B.)—Miss Margaret Lyman, daughter of Dr. Henry Lyman, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Julia Lyman Day, at Bridgeport, Conn.

Of Judge F. S. Lyman's family, Miss Ellen spent some months in Honolulu, where she is ever a welcome visitor. Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Lyman alternate between their cool scenic home on Alewa Heights and the restful quiet of the sea at Waikiki. They recently returned from a visit to Hilo and the volcano and were delighted to find that the streets of Puunui had been completed during their absence. Mr. Francis Lyman is in San Francisco. His brother Howard graduates in June at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

Miss Kathryn I. Lyman is teaching at Punahou. Her brother, Orlando Lyman, of the University of Hawaii, will enter next year at Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lyman spent a week at the volcano of Kilauea and made a short visit in Hilo, the home of the Lyman family. Mrs. Esther Lyman McCluskey has been made secretary of the Woman's Board of Missions. She has done efficient work as chairman of the committee on Patriotic Education, D. A. R. An appreciative tribute to President Harding from her pen appeared in the Honolulu "Advertiser" of August.

Of the Rufus Lyman branch, we hear that Eugene Lyman, as a member of the Hilo Board of Supervisors, has been asking for $1000 to equip a public tennis court for Hilo, to be situated near the children's playground. Henry Lyman's family must find life almost terrifying these days, when living so near the present local earthquakes and subsidence of land. David Belden Lyman is head of the Salvation Army Boys' Home at Kaimuki. His eldest daughter is attending Punahou School. On July 8 Major Charles Bishop Lyman and Edna Mason Wetmore were married in Minneapolis, Minn. L. Thornton Lyman will continue as agricultural expert and superintendent of Kalanianaole Settlement, Molokai. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dana Lyman were made glad on May 19, 1923, by the arrival of a little daughter.

Lyons (L.)—Mrs. Isabel Lyons Richardson is now making her home with her sister in Honolulu. Mrs. Emma Lyons Doyle has also had her husband's father as her guest during the past winter. As Mrs. Doyle is publicity agent in the Humane Society, she has found the duties rather strenuous during the absence of the president, Mrs. Thayer, especially during "Humane Week."

Dr. Lyons of Detroit, Mich., is devoting part of his time to literary work.

Paris (J. D.)—Miss Ella Paris' hotel at Kealakekua seems to be very popular. So many returning guests speak of the rest, recuperation and the opportunity for seeing old places and scenes under the direction of Miss Paris, who knows so intimately the history of these ancient places and people. Miss Paris is a member of the Board of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association. On Feb. 23, 1924, a little daughter, Edith Mae Paris, became a member of the household of John Davis and Edith Collins Paris at their home in Kaawaloa.

Parker (B. W.)—Rev. H. H. Parker passed his 90th milestone on March 2nd. He has grown thinner from close application to literary work, but is erect and able still. The compiling of the Hawaiian dictionary was an arduous task, undertaken, as it was, after a 55 years' pastorate of the first church of Honolulu. He spends many week-ends on the other side of the island, where he played as a boy three-quarters of a century ago.

Miss Mary Parker is still a "shut-in," very weak in body, but clear in mind and strong in faith.

Rice (W. H.)—Mrs. Dora Isenberg has recently sent photographs of her grandparents, Rev. and Mrs. William Harrison Rice; of her mother, Mrs. Paul Isenberg, taken when a little girl; her aunt, Mrs. De La Vergne, and a group of three generations, Col. George De La Vergne, his son Harry and grandson, George De La Vergne. Col. George De La Vergne died Feb. 11, 1924, at the home of his daughter-in-law in Los Angeles. He was 85 years old His son G. H. De La Vergne has written us a sketch of his life.

W. Hyde Rice has been quite ill at his home for some months. Into the family of Charles A. Rice has come a little grandson, Holbrook Goodale, the first child of their daughter Juliet and her husband, Holbrook Goodale, of the Whitney family. Miss Edith visited her sister, Mrs. Goodale, in May, afterward returning to Kauai with Miss Farrington as her guest during the absence of Governor and Mrs. Farrington at Washington.

Miss Eleanor Scott, daughter of Mary Rice Scott, was a substitute teacher for a time at the Lihue Grammar School. Miss Leilani Scott has been assisting in the music of Maemae Sunday School. The Scott sisters are now living on Liliha Street, near A. F. Judd. Mrs. Harold Rice, with her daughter, Charlotte Emily, left for the coast in September, Mrs. Rice returning a few weeks later. Mrs. L. L. Sexton and her two boys visited Kauai in July and attended the birthday celebrations of her father and mother.

Richards (W.)—From Dr. Hubert Lyman Clark, M. C. Z., Cambridge 38, Mass., with an enclosed check for himself and son, William Smith Clark, our treasurer received this bit of news:

"William Smith Clark returned from his two years in Japan in October and is now doing graduate work at Harvard, fitting himself to become a teacher of English."

H. Seymour Colton, son of Helen Richards Colton Calkins, was married Oct. 6, 1923, in Rydle, Pa., to Miss Ruth Waters.

Rogers (E. H.)—From the Rowell-Rogers branch of the Rogers family we have not heard this year. The other daughters, Mrs. Zelie Cockett, of Waikapu, Maui, and Mrs. Frank Somerfield of Wailuku, Maui, entertained Delegate and Mrs. Jarrett at luncheon in July. Each of these sisters adopted years ago an orphaned son of their brother's. They are said to be fine young men.

The Misses Mary Eva and Mabel Sunter again spent their summer vacation in Honolulu. Though enjoying the pleasures and opportunities of city life they were yet quite content to go back to the quiet routine of teaching.

Rowell (G. B.)—From the Rogers branch of the Rowell family we have had no report. The Doles have become a large, independent tree, mentioned in another place. Harold Gay is still in Mexico, but the rest of the Gay family were all together on Christmas Day at Coronado, Cal., with their father and mother. Leslie Gay has three children—Jeanie, three and Harold, one. The five sisters in the George Rowell family were together last summer in Berkeley. Alice S. Rowell moved from Chicago to Berkeley three years ago. Her husband is a professor in the University of California. Olive Rowell also has a home in Berkeley near her sister, a college friend living with her. Elsie and Dorothy are living together at 537 West 121st Street, New York. Ruth Rowell Sanborne is still at Porterville, Calif.

Mrs. Ellen Rowell Lambert writes of broken health, a season in the hospital, continued medical care and a present hope of recovery. Also, she writes of a very efficient teacher friend who would like a position here.

Ruggles (S.)—Mrs. Frances S. Loomis writes of a wedding in the family of her brother, C. G. Peck of Chicago. The marriage, which took place May 5, 1923, was that of Mr. Peck's youngest daughter, Anna Loraine Peck, to Gersham Gillham of Peoria, Ill. Her note comes from Elizabeth, N. J., where she was visiting her youngest son Edward and family, but she was expecting to return soon to her home with her daughter in Madison, Wis. Later, on March 10, she had just reached home after a visit by the way with her eldest son, A. L. Loomis, Mattoon, Ill.

Shipman (W. C.)—Oliver T. Shipman, our Cousin from Hilo, was made County Treasurer at the November election. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shipman were hosts at an afternoon wedding at their beach house, Keauau, when their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alice L. Shipman, was married to Dr. Vernon D. Schutte. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Lamb Doty of the Episcopal Church.

Smith (L.)—In the Frear branch of the Smith family glad wedding bells were rung on May 26, when Miss Virginia Frear, just returned from Mills College, Calif., plighted her troth to Urban Earl Wild, a young lawyer of the firm of Smith & Wild. The marriage took place on the beautiful lawn at Arcadia, and her uncle, Rev. J. P. Erdman, performed the ceremony. Her Aunt Marion, Mrs. Erdman, in her clear, mellow, musical tones sang "O Promise Me" and "Love Me and the World Is Mine." A bevy of young girl friends were her attendants, and her family relatives and near friends witnessed the sweet, simple, solemn service. Again, it seems to me, the bells of heaven rang when the beautiful life of Mrs. Walter Frear—Mother Frear—was ended here and she was ushered, perhaps by her sainted husband, with whom she walked on earth for 66 years, into the presence of Him whom she served so faithfully and loved so much.

The passing of Mother Frear brings to memory the departure so recently of that other mother of the family, Mrs. Emma Smith Dillingham. Her presence seems very near as we re-read from a little sheaf of her poems, given by her daughter to the Cousins Society, "The Twining of the Maile Wreath," "Farewell to Editors of Maile Wreath," "The Fathers and Mothers Gone" and others. The last stanza in this little cluster of leaves seems especially appropriate—

"The precious links are strengthening fast
That draw our hearts from earth to heaven.
The mists that shroud the silent sea
Are brightening as they're oftener riven."

Another gift by Mrs. Frear to the Society was "Emma L. Smith's Journal Book," June 4, 1850-51. This quaint little journal, written at the age of 6 years, with a foreword by her daughter, Mrs. Frear, was printed and illustrated with photographs, some from copper-plate engravings, taken in the late thirties or early forties, for a Christmas present to the grandchildren. An inspiring Easter poem, by May Dillingham Frear, may be found in the December "Friend." Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillingham returned from Washington in May, after an extended stay of months. Mrs. Harold Dillingham gave an informal tea in honor of their return. Mrs. Erdman has been very generous with her musical voice, giving much pleasure to members of the Woman's Board of Missions, as well as to guests of many social events. Harold Erdman is now at Princeton. His sister Louise is at Punahou and planning to enter Vassar next year.

Smith (J. W.)—Mrs. Mabel Hartwell, with her husband and son Alfred, visited in July their cousins Mrs. Harry Baldwin at Makawao and Mrs. Sam Baldwin at Haleakala Ranch. This was young Alfred's first visit to Maui, and many years have gone by since his father and mother climbed the slopes of Haleakala. Miss Martha Hartwell, daughter of Charles Hartwell, has entered the Girls' School at Santa Barbara, Calif., where Polly and Virginia Baldwin are students. Miss Bernice accompanied her niece to the coast. Mrs. A. T. Hartwell entertained at the Country Club in honor of Mrs. G. R. Carter on her return. To Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hartwell was born July 7, 1923, a daughter, Alicia Hartwell.

Lorrin K. Smith received one of the prizes awarded by the Agricultural Department of the University of Hawaii for poultry and has again entered the contest. Mrs. Lorrin Smith had a visit of some weeks in October from her father, Joseph G. Pratt, former postmaster at Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. William Waterhouse, after their long visit on Kauai with their son, Dr. Herbert Waterhouse and family, spent a week with Mrs. E. B. Waterhouse before sailing, June 30, 1923, for their home in Pasadena, Calif. Again, a few months later, on their way to Kauai, they spent a few weeks with their brother, W. O. Smith. Here Mrs. Waterhouse met and renewed friendship with a dear friend of her childhood at Punahou, Mrs. Fanny Gulick Jewett of Oberlin, Ohio.

One little grandson, Gordon Merrill Waterhouse, son of Rev. and Mrs. Paul Waterhouse, died in Kobe, Japan, July 5, 1923. There came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Waterhouse a son, Paul Alfred, on April 23, 1923, and on May 9, 1923, to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald C. Waterhouse, a son, John Thomas Waterhouse.

Stewart (C. S.)—A notice has come to us of the death of Edith Alexander Stewart, wife of Col. Cecil Stewart. She passed away May 30, 1921.

Thurston (A.)—In the Persis Thurston Taylor branch of the family we have to record the passing, March 16, of James T. Taylor, the last of the third generation in that branch. When one is prepared for the change, as we believe Mr. Taylor was, such a sudden transition, without pain and suffering, to higher realms of life and activity, seems ideal, but it is hard for those left behind to adjust themselves to the loss. Mr. and Mrs. James P. Winne, who had made their home in New York City for a year or more, returned in June. Miss Jane Winne of the faculty of Punahou Academy made a tour through the South Seas with Prof. and Mrs. Handy of the Bishop Museum. They visited Tonga, where they met Prince Tonga and gave him a copy of "Under Hawaiian Skies" with her compliments. Miss Mary Winne has had the care of her father, who was very ill, in connection with her Herculean school duties.

Miss Pauline Kluegel will finish her course in physical culture in Boston in June. After graduation she will return to Hawaii, where she has a position assured in Palama Settlement.

L. A. Thurston has been molding public opinion by his clear and concise articles in the Honolulu "Advertiser" and interesting himself in all the political and social affairs of the islands, with an occasional trip to the volcano of Kilauea and the mountains of Oahu for the pleasure of hiking and shelling. Mrs. Thurston motored around the island in August, entertaining friends at Haleiwa Hotel, Waialua. Mrs. Thurston's sisters, Mrs. R. H. Trent and Mrs. Fred Potter, returned in November, after some months spent on the coast. Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Thurston are still rejoicing over the arrival on August 2 of a son, Robert Shipman Thurston. Robert Thurston is a member of our new Board of Managers. Mr. and Mrs. Twigg Smith brought their two children, Thurston and Barbara, to become acquainted with, and claim their share in the inheritance of the Old Mission grounds and take part in the Annual Meeting, as did their great-grandparents before them.

Mr. Asa Heydon passed through Honolulu from Japan in January. He was recovering from near-asphyxiation by gases while exploring for minerals in Japan.

Tinker (R.)—Miss Marina Purdon wrote in December that she returned before Thanksgiving from an eight months' visit in England. She was then at New Rochelle, N. Y. Later, writing from Stratford, Conn., she hoped she was settled for some time in that charming old New England town. Her uncle, Robert Tinker, the last of his generation, is still at Rockford, Ill., in his 86th year. She hears only occasionally from Sylvia Star, who is at Laselle Seminary, Auburndale, Mass. Her parents are in Hollywood with their other daughter, Mrs. Glenn Ebersole. Margaret Weatherup, daughter of Mary Gray Tinker Weatherup, spent some months traveling about the British Isles. She is now back in Rochester, N. Y., in library work.

Miss Purdon writes: "On board the British fleet, which will visit Honolulu in June, is a Mr. Winslow, descendant of Governor Winslow of Massachusetts. Please welcome him."

Wetmore (C.)—The last Annual Report gave a short summary of the second world tour of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lewis (Lucy T. Wetmore). In September they sent two kodak pictures of the grave of S. T. Alexander on the Zambesi River in far Africa. One was taken at a distance, as they first saw it—the other after they had cleared it of the heavy growth of weeds and placed on it the bouquets of wild flowers—one for themselves and one for A. F. Cooke—at his request. The photographs we have in our cabinet in the H. M. C. office, but Mrs. Lewis suggests that we give or share them with Mrs. Martha Alexander Waterhouse.

Later, Mrs. Lewis writes, "Just a few words for the Annual Report of the Hawaiian Mission Children's Society concerning the Wetmore family. My husband and I arrived in Oakland, Me., in May from our last around-the-world tour, six months on the way from Oakland, Calif. We spent the summer and fall there at our summer home on Lake Messalonskee with my sister, Mrs. Catherine Wetmore Deacon, as our guest. This is a short distance from my husband's home, where we often visited.

"My sister and I enjoyed visiting our cousins in mother's old home in Pittsfield, Mass., and father's in Lebanon, Conn., from which they started as missionaries to the Hawaiian Islands.

"My husband, sister and I reached California in December, coming by steamer from New York via Havana and the Panama Canal. On this world tour we traveled not far from 40,000 miles. The best part of a journey is getting home.

"My husband would enjoy taking the Cousins on a world tour with our lantern and slides taken from Mr. Lewis' own pictures."

Mrs. Catherine Wetmore Deacon writes to our Treasurer, "Please take note that the Lakeport postoffice address is now R. F. D. No. 1. The Government forced us to relinquish our postoffice box or to give up the R. F. D. service. My son Charles' address remains the same, viz.: 2933 Linden Avenue, Berkeley."

Whitney (S.)—The Pogue branch of the Whitney family are very modest in telling of their accomplishments and activities. It was left for strangers—tourists who called at the H. M. C. Museum in January to sing the praises of the Pogues of Santa Clara; of "Aunt Jennie," "a saint if there ever was one," and of the children, members of the Presbyterian Church and held in high esteem; of Maria, who lately married a Mr. Pickett; of Charles, a teacher in a business college and a Sunday School superintendent, now in San Francisco; of Ruth, a nurse in the office of one of the M. D.'s of Santa Clara; of Jennie, in a teacher's college in San Jose, and Frances, in Santa Clara High School.

A letter to the Treasurer from William F. Pogue came later, making his daughter, Mrs. Maria Emma Pogue Pickett and her husband, Edward Ash Pickett, of 560 Elm Street, San Francisco, members of the Cousins' Society, and also his son, Charles Alexander Pogue, of 35 University Street, Santa Clara. He also tells that on Jan. 15, 1923, Henry Baldwin Pogue was married to Mrs. Bertha Murphy Meyers at Los Angeles, Calif., and that they returned to Maui in May of last year. In Wailuku, Maui, on March 8 a little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cory C. Pogue.

Henry M. Whitney of Brewer & Co., grandson of the missionary Samuel Whitney who came on the Thaddeus in 1820, and son of H. M. Whitney, owner and editor of the Advertiser and Gazette for many years, left in October for a rest among the tule swamps, duck shooting, expecting to spend several months at the gun-clubs along the Pacific Coast.

W. W. Goodale, after forty-six years' service as plantation manager, first at Papaikou, Hawaii, and then at Waialua, Oahu, has resigned. He will be greatly missed at Waialua where he and Mrs. Goodale have done much good. They are rejoicing over their first grand-child, Holbrook March Goodale, Jr.

Catherine Goodale Warren (Mrs. Rawson Warren) spent some weeks with her parents at Waialua, and at her brother, Holbrook Goodale's, home in Honolulu, and then returned to her home in Washington, D. C.

Miss Caroline E. McCall writes that life moves along quietly and uneventfully. Although the last in her family, and knowing something of loneliness, she has many friends and is happy in their love and society. She is thankful for her home and for the work which she believes has been entrusted to her care. She sends best wishes to the Cousins.

Wilcox (A.)—The Wilcox family are exceedingly reticent about their movements, their community enterprises and their gifts, but wherever they go they leave a trail of blessings and thoughtful kindnesses. Mr. G. N. Wilcox keeps young, they say, by a sea voyage occasionally with a month or two in the bracing California air. Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Wilcox find health and recuperation in travel and change of climate, while Mrs. A. S. Wilcox, with grand-children calling her there and here has almost made a pathway across the sea.

The Albert Spencer Wilcox Memorial Library at Lihue is to be formally dedicated May 24, 1924. The building is erected by Mrs. Emma K. Wilcox in memory of her husband and will be dedicated on his birthday.

ADOPTED COUSINS.

Miss Martha Beckwith, professor of folk-lore at Vassar College, spent the summer again in Porto Rico. She has published, with the help of Miss Laura Green, her third pamphlet on Hawaiian Folklore. On January 9 she writes, "Last Monday I saw Annie Alexander off to Egypt and three weeks ago my sister to California."

Bowen—Mrs. W. A. Bowen expects to leave for New York the last of May. The new boy, William Alfred Bowen, is quite a magnet. Mrs. Bowen entertained this year Dr. and Mrs. George Andrews of Oberlin, and Professor and Mrs. F. F. Jewett, also of Oberlin.

Crawford—Mrs. Harriet (Sturges) Crawford writes, "When I lived a girl in Honolulu, 50 years ago, I spent part of the time in the old Chamberlain House when 'Aunt Mattie' was living and roomed with Allie Chamberlain. I was in Honolulu a few years ago and was much interested in going over again the old house. I hope you will send us the year's report.

My sister, Mrs. Sturgeon of Los Angeles, asks to be dropped from the list of subscribers to this yearly report as she sees the number that comes to me."

On November 27, 1922, Arthur Brautigam Holmes to Zilla De Lamater Vezin, at Yonkers, N. Y. He is an architect with office in New York. Warren is a member of the Society. Arthur is not. Our daughter, Ethel J. Holmes, was married in June, 1922, to Adrien T. Von Schmid. They live at 26 Vera Place, Montclair. Our oldest son, Charles Samuel Holmes, is in business at Erie, Penn., living at 706 Cascade street, with his wife, Elsie Kraemer Holmes, and three daughters, Mary Elsie, Millicent and Winifred. David N. Holmes, my brother (a member), now lives at 400 instead of 326 Park Ave., East Orange.

Hoppin—Miss Jessie Hoppin, according to the December number of the Missionary Herald, is still in Micronesia. "She does not know what it means to give up till help arrives. She still waits for a man to release her from her responsibilities for the general work of the mission."

Howard—W. L. Howard celebrated his 60th birthday by holding a pleasant reunion of island people and other friends at their beautiful home at Long Beach, California. Mr. Howard is a prominent member of the Hawaiian Club in Los Angeles which did so much for our football players who went from the University of Hawaii last summer.

Isenberg—Johannes Carl Isenberg stepped into the office of the Society one day in February and was interested in the genealogical records of the Isenberg family and gave an item or two of news we were glad to get.

Lydgate—We have heard of the engagement of Mortimer Lydgate of Kauai who, though so young, was last year given the responsible position of Territorial Land Agent for the county of Kauai.

Paulding—Miss Christina Paulding, a former principal of Kawaiahao Seminary, is still with the Flathead Indians of Arlee, Montana. "These Indians are pretty good as a tribe and there are many fine individuals among them." Arlee is a town on the Union Pacific railroad, and she lives about four and a half miles out, where they have a little community of their own at this, the Jock's sub-agency. There are five families in the agency, and as much of the land has been sold or leased to white people, she does not feel at all out of the world. They had a wonderful fall and winter with but one snow storm and one zero morning. She sends aloha.

Pond—Eldredge Pond made a visit to his parents after an absence of four and a half years. He is a student at the University of Chicago and lives with Professor and Mrs. George Mead.

Rand—Mrs. Carrie E. Rand, for many years a missionary with her husband in Micronesia, died July 23, 1923, at Portland, Conn., at the home of her daughter, Mabel Rand Varley. The body was taken to Marblehead, her old home, for burial.

Mr. and Mrs. Rand had lived with their daughter in Portland for nearly ten years and were very happy there.

Mr. and Mrs. Varley have two daughters, Caroline in her first year at Wheaton College, Norton, Mass., and Dorothy, a junior in High School at Portland.

Scudder—Dr. and Mrs. Doremus Scudder have bought a home at Pomona, California, and have named it Halehipa. They plan to spend several weeks this summer in Honolulu, renewing old friendships.

Searle—Miss Susan A. Searle, our Cousin in Kobe, Japan, sends congratulations to your Secretary for her lovely eightieth birthday celebration.

Smith—Dr. Arthur Smith, whose seventy-eighth birthday was celebrated recently is reported in the December Missionary Herald as "well and hearty and as full of jokes and pranks as ever. It is a great joy to see Dr. and Mrs. Smith in their own home. Just now Dr. Smith is rejoicing over his tomato patch, which is quite remarkable. Mrs. Smith is constant in her devotion to the hospital patients. Dr. Smith does writing, speaking and other uplifting tasks."

Thrum—Thomas G. Thrum, the historian, celebrated his eighty-first birthday and also the seventieth anniversary of his arrival on these islands. He lived with and made many fast friends among the Cousins and later became a member of the Society.

Mr. Thrum has this year published a golden jubilee edition of his Hawaiian Almanac, a book whose completeness, conciseness and accuracy have made it a valuable source of reference for many years. Miss Margaret Thrum, grand-daughter of T. G. Thrum, graduated from Punahou Academy last summer and then went to attend the Armstrong school for Secretaries on the mainland.

Waterhouse—Mrs. Elizabeth Waterhouse, on August 17, left her frail body and entered that other Home for which she had long been preparing. Fortunately her daughters have taken up their mother's work at the Mae-mae Mission. Marion Waterhouse Wilcox has renovated the old homestead for her home and the four sisters with their brother George are all clustered about that great tree that marks the entrance to the Waterhouse homes. Mrs. Margaret Waterhouse Walker is leaving in May with her little girls to spend a year in Scotland.

Whitney—Dr. J. M. Whitney has been confined to his home for some weeks. His daughter Ada Whitney Weinrich and family have moved in from the Peninsula to be near her parents. Dr. Whitney, however, was able to attend the dedication exercises at the new Central Union Church.

IN MEMORIAM.

Amelia Hamilton Armstrong, born on Nov. 1, 1845, was the youngest of the ten Armstrong children, whose father and mother came in the fifth company of missionaries in 1832. With the Alexanders and Parkers, the Armstrongs made the first attempt to establish a mission in the Marquesas Islands. Returning to the Sandwich Islands, Father Armstrong was located first on Maui, and later, in 1840, in Honolulu as the second pastor to Kawaiahao Church. In 1848 he resigned his pastorate to become the second Minister of Public Instruction, a department then in its infancy.

Old-timers well remember the busy, interesting home in "Old Stone House" on Beretania Street. "There were always guests in this hospitable home, and Aunt Amelia often regaled those of a younger generation with tales of feasts to the Alii (the young chiefs and chiefesses of high rank) and the entertainment of other missionaries from various parts of the islands. Her rich memory could describe these animated scenes with delightful humor. In these last years of her life she has lived over and over again her girlhood days in Hawaii, not forgetting a single detail of that early life that seems so romantic to us now. For almost fifty years she has lived in California, making a home, during the latter part of her life, for her nephew, Dolph Banning."

Eleanor Waterhouse Wood wrote the preceding paragraph, a part of a longer account read at Miss Armstrong's funeral. Mrs. Wood was a near neighbor of Miss Armstrong in Berkeley and with Anna Hobron saw more of her during her last years than any other friend. In the summer of last year Miss Armstrong fell and injured her hip. Acute complications set in, causing her death on Aug. 25, 1923. Of the original family group, only one member remains, Mrs. Ellen Armstrong Weaver, who is now in California.

Albert Clark Balding died in Honolulu, Nov. 17, 1923, aged 13 years.

He was born in Hilo, Hawaii, Dec. 12, 1909, the youngest child of William and Caroline Clark Balding, and was named for his uncle and his grandfather, Dr. A. B. Clark, who did so much for the Cousins.

Albert was a handsome, friendly boy and much loved by his companions on Judd Street and at Punahou School. He was injured in athletics, and for a whole year suffered acutely. Although taken to Kauikeolani, the Children's Hospital, where he had the best of care, he thought no one could lift him or minister to his wants as could his brother Tom, his ideal in all things. The little body was laid to rest beside that of his father in beautiful Nuuanu cemetery, in Honolulu.

Ernest August Bindt—The late Ernest August Bindt died at St. Helena, Calif., on Nov. 19, 1920, after several months' severe suffering from neuritis. He was the son of the late Frank M. and Louisa Johnson Bindt, and grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson, early missionaries of Waioli, Kauai. Ernest spent his boyhood at Koloa, where he was born Aug. 17, 1871, going to school in Honolulu. In 1885 he removed to the coast and later was engaged in railroad survey work. After following different lines of vocation for a number of years, he finally went to ranching in the vicinity of St. Helena, Calif., and was so engaged at the time of his death. He made a short visit to Honolulu in 1899, but as his interests were centered in California he soon returned there. He was unmarried and leaves three brothers to mourn his loss—Frank and Edward of California, and A. Rudolph Bindt of Honolulu.

Bertha Frances Kaleimaiole Bindt passed away at her Peninsula home very suddenly on the afternoon of Wednesday, March 19, 1924, at 3 o'clock. While she had been slightly indisposed for two or three days her relatives and close friends did not realize that the call was to come so soon, which has left us dazed and numb with the suddenness of our bereavement.

Miss Bindt was the youngest child of the late Frank M. Bindt and Louisa Johnson Bindt and granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson, early missionaries of Waioli, Kauai, and was born at Koloa, Kauai, Sept. 14, 1874. When Grandmother Johnson removed to Honolulu in 1879 Miss Bindt came with her and attended the old Fort Street School. In 1892 Miss Bindt went with her Aunt Lizzie (Mrs. George C. Williams) to California and remained a year. On her return to the islands she took a course to prepare herself as a teacher, and was later assigned to a position on Molokai and then on Kauai, and then to the Royal School in this city. About 12 or 13 years ago she was assigned to the Pearl City School and was there up to the time of her death. As a teacher she was idolized by her children and was well liked by her teacher associates.

Miss Bindt was of a very kindly disposition and had a kind word and a pleasant smile for all those with whom she came in contact. Her refined nature and cultured mind made her a good friend and a delightful companion.

While the call came to Miss Bindt in the prime of life and she had so much to live for, yet her friends and relatives feel that she "hath done what she could" to make this earth a pleasanter place to live in.

Miss Bindt leaves to mourn her loss, a brother, A. Rudolph

A. P. R. B.

Heather Jean Damon, born in Honolulu, Nov. 19, 1901; died in Paris of pneumonia March 25, 1924. Hers was a life of eager brightness, leaving happy, vivid memories to us who love her.

Col. George De la Vergne was born in Marietta, Ohio, Aug. 9, 1839, and died in Los Angeles, Calif., Feb. 12, 1924, on the date of Lincoln's birthday. He was of French Huguenot ancestry, but the family had been in this country for four generations. Later they moved to a Tennessee farm.

When the Civil War drew near, George De la Vergne and his brother Alexander, to prevent being conscripted into the Confederate army, took the grapevine, or underground route, through Tennessee and Kentucky, and finally reached New York. He enlisted in the 147th Brooklyn regiment, which was sent to Fortress Monroe.

Later he was detailed with Col. Felix Reeves to raise a regiment of refugees from East Tennessee, and designated as the Eighth Tennessee Volunteers, of which he was made lieutenant colonel. Subsequently, he went through the siege of Knoxville, and in riding the lines a bullet from a sharpshooter seared the back of his neck and his uniform was pierced by several bullets, but he was unscathed. Some time later his regiment was a unit in the 23d Division, Army of the Cumberland, under General Sherman in his campaign towards Atlanta. Col. De la Vergne saw action in the Battle of Resaca and endured the severe hardships of this most arduous campaign. During the Battle of Peach Tree Creek, before Atlanta, he was subjected to severe shell shock, which affected his eyesight and general health for a long time. Later he was assigned by General Hooker to court-martial duty in Cincinnati and Cleveland. Although only 27 years of age at the time, he was appointed president of the court. When President Lincoln's body lay in state in Cleveland, Col. De la Vergne was one of the guard of honor. Shortly after he was honorably discharged from the service.

In January, 1867, he was married to Emily Dole Rice in Jasper, Tenn. They moved to Clinton, Mo., where Col. De la Vergne engaged in mercantile pursuits. Two children were born in Clinton —George Harrison, Dec. 5, 1868, and Paul Findley, Dec. 11, 1870. On account of my mother's health, we took long camping trips, going, in 1875, in a covered wagon, as far West as Fort Dodge, Kan. One of the experiences of this frontier life was a prairie fire.

In 1878 we purchased a ranch near Colorado Springs, where the altitude doubtless saved my mother's life. Here we continued until 1894. In Colorado, as everywhere else he lived, my father was a staunch supporter and loyal worker in the Presbyterian church, and devoted to every cause that contributed in any way to the establishment of Christ's kingdom among men.

Aside from four years in Hawaii, 1894-8, the rest of his life was spent in Los Angeles. My mother died there June 13, 1911, and my brother Paul on April 9, 1914. My father's most extraordinary quality was his courage. His personality, stalwart and cheerful, stood as a help to those whose courage was less than his. The final word speaks of his absolute loyalty to his country, to his church, and to Jesus Christ. None of us who knew him think of him as dead, for through this loyalty of which I have spoken he lives, not in our memories but in our lives.

—Harry De la Vergne.

Ellen Charlotte Alexander was born on March 8, 1852, at Lahainaluna, the youngest of the family of the missionary, Rev. William Patterson Alexander. Later the family moved to Wailuku. She was the life of many youthful parties in her school days at Punahou. These years were followed by those at Mills Seminary in California and then in the Conservatory of Music at Stuttgart in Germany, where she had the rare privilege of studying under the famous Lebert, himself, in charge of the conservatory. She had the soul of music within her and played exquisitely. All her life she remained a student. She spoke German, Italian and French fluently, later translating a great deal from the German into Italian for her husband's work and for the "Anthroposophique Society."

During a number of years she taught music in California, where she left her impress on her pupils. Partly owing to her impaired hearing, the "Old World," with its art, drew her. In Italy she took lessons in lip reading, at an "institute" for deaf mutes, of Prof. Giulio Ferreri, whom she married in 1901. They lived in Washington, D. C., and in Boston for a while, but eventually returned to Italy, where, in Milan, Prof. Ferreri has had charge of a normal school and a large school for deaf-mute children, and has been active in much civic work, with a sympathetic helpmeet always in his wife. His work has won him international reputation. King Victor Emanuel knighted him several years ago for his services, and recently Mussolini appointed him "regio commissario," with full authority over all the work for deaf-mutes in Italy. His wife wrote with enthusiasm of this new honor and opportunity for usefulness.

Ten years ago she had the joy of coming back to these islands with her husband and showing him the dear old home at Wailuku.

The bereaved husband now writes that in February they had spent nine days in Rome, which "Lottie had enjoyed more than ever before, happy and free from care." On their return to Milan, from the beginning of March she was poorly, part of the time suffering extremely with headaches. "But, even so," a friend writes, "she was always sweet and gentle, always thinking of others." The morning of March 27 she was up early to take coffee with her husband in the dining-room and go out for some shopping. Suddenly the pain in her head returned, and her husband writes, "in five minutes 'her beautiful soul' had passed on."

We knew her—sensitive to all that was fine and beautiful in nature, literature and music, with a lovely personality of rare charm and sweetness, an unselfish nature, generous to a fault, and the tenderest, most sympathetic of hearts. Was it her cheery sense of humor, a certain joyous enthusiasm, her quick step and erect, graceful carriage, or her winsome smile that made her always seem so young?

Many will miss her, for no one knows of all her kindnesses, nor to how many of the humble and unfortunate she has reached out in loving ministrations. M. C. A.

A Memory of Fannie Foster Frear

Augusta, Me., Jan. 29, 1836;
Oakland, Calif., Feb. 7, 1924.

When the aged shepherd, leaning still upon the staff which had been his comfort up and down the steep hills and through the dark valleys of a lifetime, crossed over Jordan to his promised land, we wondered how long his comrade, his true helpmeet, would linger in the border land. A score of months passed, and then she, too, with no word of farewell, followed.

Her twinkling eyes, cheery smiles, exquisite birdlike movements, witty, terse remarks and utterly courageous attitude toward life would be more painfully missed had she not so stamped her individuality upon our lives rather than our memories as to be ever living. Some people can not die.

How does the bride of today interpret her position as helpmeet to her husband? A Biblical story tells us that in certain battles those who stayed by the stuff were to share equally the spoils with the warriors. In all our out-going is there enough downright staying by the stuff? From the day when Walter Frear found Fannie Foster playing the melodeon in the little church of Placerville, California, to the day, more than sixty years after, when he took his last journey, leaving her to follow shortly, she was to him a help-meet, a conserving, constructing, creating force in his home and his world.

During the childhood of her family—three daughters and three sons—she gave herself not only to their training and their service in the humdrum tasks imposed by a minister's slender stipend, but enjoyed with them the exhilaration of the out-of-doors. With her boys she climbed the high mountains in our islands, gathering ferns for her collections, which showed the interest of the botanist and the artist as well. Camping out over night, she fared forth a hale companion of the sons she taught her own knowledge of nature's handiwork and her joy in beauty.

Undaunted at riding a mountain trail in her latter years, or leading a troop afoot in the Yosemite, she had her first surf ride in an outrigger canoe at the age of 69, and though disabled in one arm and unable to swim, declared that the only trouble with the sport was that it lacked the excitement she had anticipated.

Combined with a daring spirit and indomitable will that removed many a mountain, was a sunny disposition, a patience that made merry at her own affliction of deafness, and a rare loving-kindness.

"Oh, let me join the choir invisible
Of those immortal dead who live again
In lives made better by their presence."

Rev. Orramel Hinckley Gulick—Oct. 7, 1830; Sept. 18, 1923.

Orramel Hinckley Gulick, born on Kauai, Oct. 7, 1830, was the second son of Rev. and Mrs. Peter J. Gulick. Five years of his childhood was spent at Waimea, Kauai, and a little longer time at Koloa. The incident making the deepest impression on his childhood was, perhaps, the standing on the rocky shore near the Spouting Horn and seeing his 12-year-old brother Halsey sail away alone in a little boat to take the ship to America.

In 1841, at the age of 11 years, he entered Punahou School as a boarder. Seven years later he left school and engaged in business, and in 1855 or 1856 he bought and commanded the little rocking schooner "Kamehameha IV." and then the swift clipper schooner "Nettie Merrill," which he sailed successfully until he became first mate on the "Morning Star" in 1857. He had been first to greet the "Morning Star" from the deck of his schooner and to welcome the new Micronesian missionary, Hiram Bingham II.

In 1862 he was ordained and licensed to preach, and took charge of a little Hawaiian church in Kau, Hawaii, where he and Mrs. Gulick established a girls' boarding school and where he published the "Ke Aulaula." In 1865 they removed the school to Waialua, Oahu, and five years later resigned to go as missionaries to Japan, where they remained for 22 years, returning here in 1894. Of their work as missionaries there and of his editing in Kobe the first Japanese Christian newspaper in the land we have no space to tell, and nothing of their 20 years' service among Japanese and Hawaiians after their return.

Only a glimmering idea of the place Mr. Gulick held in this Society can be given.

The first recorded sentence in the H. M. C. records is in Mr. Gulick's handwriting, dated June 5, 1852: "Met according to adjournment from a meeting of mission children on the 22d day of May, two weeks previous." At that meeting the Society was organized and officers elected, O. H. Gulick being recording secretary. Mr. Gulick "had the honor" of giving the name "The Cousins" to the Society.

Mr. Gulick was the second president of the Society and the fiftieth. In his first presidential address he said: "We shall enter with a spirit of enterprise into every avenue that opens for the advancement of light and truth," and "wherever we may be called to stand, there we shall be found with our armor on." On the fiftieth anniversary he said: "This Society has been a quiet but powerful influence for peace, good order and good will among the people of this group and among the tribes of Marquesas and Micronesia."

On May 19, 1855, at a Cousins' meeting in the old schoolhouse, where mission meetings were held, he married Ann Eliza Clark. Her bridesmaids were her sisters, Caroline and Sarah Clark, and William Gulick and Charles Kittredge were the groomsmen. Mr. Strong, their pastor, performed the ceremony.

In 1905 their golden wedding was also celebrated at a Cousins' meeting, held on Mrs. Theodore Richards' lawn. They stood on a carpet of yellow leaves, with the stairway behind them, leading to the decorated lanai, outlined in gay calliopsis and golden-shower blooms. There were gifts from hosts of Hawaii's friends, with golden memories and words of appreciation and love mingled with the golden rays of the setting sun that sifted through the palms and other trees.

In 1914 Mr. Gulick was authorized by the Society to prepare a history of the mission, and the following year he and Mrs. Gulick went to Boston, where they delved among the old letters and records for original data, and in 1918 the "Pilgrims of Hawaii" was published. He was then 88 years old.

Mr. Gulick's outstanding characteristic was, perhaps, faithfulness. Nothing was too small nor too great to be undertaken for what he thought was right, and with the doing came the strength to do. Even when called upon to drink of the cup of prolonged suffering he did not flinch, but became as gold purified in the fire and ready for the "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Rev. Theodore Weld Gulick—Word has recently been received of the death on April 7, 1924, of Rev. Theodore Weld Gulick at the home of his son, James Hervey Gulick, Ocean Grove, Calif. He passed away after a brief illness, following a long invalidism.

John Josiah Jones—The name of John J. Jones first appears in our name list in 1880 with his residence in Hilo. Some time in the late nineties his address was changed to Paia, Maui, to which address his Annual Report was sent for many years. So far as we know he has never attended any of the H. M. C. Soc. meetings. We have recently heard of his decease at the age of 85 in Honolulu about two years ago.

Charlotte Lyman, the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Lyman of Hilo, passed away on Dec. 15, 1923. After an operation for appendicitis complications set in which resulted in her death. She was a member of the Junior High School and of the First Foreign Church Sunday School and was very popular among her schoolmates. Her father writes: "How I miss our little angel! She was always down to meet the car every morning and help me home."

Mrs. Elizabeth Mead's Annual report was returned this year marked "Deceased." Mrs. Mead's name has for years been on our list of honorary members, with her home in Oberlin. From our new index files we find in the 46th Annual Report the following paragraph:

"In the summer of 1897 another event of interest was the visit of Prof. George E. Mead of Chicago, Ill., with his wife (our own Helen Castle) and their little boy. In their party were also Prof. Swing of Oberlin, with his wife, who is a sister of George Mead, and his most lovely and accomplished mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Mead, who has the distinguished position of president of Mt. Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass. To her will ever be accorded the honor of raising that institution from the ruins of the great fire of 1896, as Mary Lyon had of its inception in 1837. This party were all with us at a notable Cousins' meeting, held in the S. N. Castle home in August, and Mrs. Mead was made an honorary member at this meeting. In a letter since her return she has sent her special thanks to the Society for the honor conferred upon her."

On Dec. 6, 1923, Hiram Bingham Moseley, after 76 years of faithful service, was called to the better country. Following the farmer's life in Douglas County, Colorado, he had retired and spent nearly 10 peaceful, quiet years. Contentment was his chief virtue, and perhaps second to that was his loyalty to his church, his state and his country. He was very much interested in the schools of Douglas County, which he often visited, and took great pleasure in giving prizes for the best orations. He was almost an ancestor-worshiper and was very proud of having been named for his worthy uncle and grandfather, and at his own request was called "Uncle Hiram" by all his friends. He was naturally very much interested in the islands, it being his mother's birthplace and the field of his grandparents' missionary labors. He was proud to be one of the "Cousins," and always welcomed the Annual Report with joy. I love to think of him now as communing with those blessed saints whose name he bore. C. L. S.

Jane Severance Parke passed to her heavenly home Sept. 17, 1923. She came from old New England stock, her mother being the daughter of the Hon. Luther Severance, who came to the islands as United States Commissioner early in the fifties. Her father, William Cooper Parke, was well known in the days of the monarchy, having at that time the position of Marshal of the kingdom.

Miss Parke was one of the old Punahou scholars, later going to California to finish her education under Mrs. Mills. After her return from school she opened a kindergarten for the neighbors' children in a little cottage in the back yard of the Kukui Street home. Here she taught not only kindergarten work, but the elements of reading and writing, for in those days the public schools were not as up to date as they are today. In after years Miss Parke was much interested in the work of the free kindergartens of Honolulu and was a member of the Board of Directors of the Kindergarten Association at the time of her death.

From early youth she was connected with the Fort Street Church and later with the Central Union, giving much time and energy in teaching in the Sunday School and working on committees in the Ladies' Societies. She was a regular attendant at the church services and gave generously to all philanthropic work.

Miss Parke was always glad to help where help was needed. She was most indefatigable in her labors during the war, sewing early and late on garments for the Red Cross. She was also much interested in educational work and helped to support several girls at the Kawaiahao Seminary.

In her family life she was unselfish and was always ready to give up her way if she thought it would help or please others. To her friends she was most generous and many were helped over hard times by her kindly gifts.

Miss Parke was quite a traveler, visiting the United States many times and making several trips abroad, but her love for Hawaii was great and she found no place quite as dear as her own beautiful home in the valley.

Her sudden passing came as a great shock to a wide circle of friends, to whom she had endeared herself by her sterling Christian qualities. H. S.

Carrie T. Rand died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Varley, Portland, Conn., July 23, 1923, after only a few hours' illness. Mrs. Rand was born in Marblehead, Mass., Feb. 2, 1851, the daughter of Thomas and Eliza Foss.

In June, 1874, she married Frank Rand of Carthage, Ill., starting the same day for the mission field in Micronesia, where they lived for 20 years in the Caroline Islands, being located most of the time on the Island of Ponape. In 1890 the missionaries were driven from Ponape by the Spaniards, and in 1894 Mr. and Mrs. Rand returned to the United States. Mr. Rand held several pastorates in New England until 1912, and since 1914 they have been living with their daughter in Connecticut.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Rand leaves a daughter, Mabelle Rand Varley, and two grand-daughters, Caroline Ruth Varley and Dorothy Varley. F. E. R.

Mrs. Edith Alexander Stewart, wife of Col. Cecil Stewart, died in Boston, Mass., May 30, 1921.

This message has just been sent to us on a return card. Col. Cecil Stewart is the son of Col. Seaforth Stewart and grandson of Rev. Charles Seymour Stewart, who came as a missionary to Hawaii in 1823. Because of his wife's illness they left in 1825. Later he was chaplain on a man-of-war and visited Honolulu more than once. He was a voluminous writer and added many items to the history of Hawaii.

Col. Cecil Stewart was an army man and captain in the Spanish-American War. After being out of service for nine years he offered his services as major in the 151st Field Artillery in the World War in 1918. His home has been in Boston.

James Townsend Taylor died March 17, 1924. He was born near Kailua, Island of Hawaii, on March 19, 1858; was a son of Rev. Townsend Elijah and Persis Goodale (Thurston) Taylor and married Ethel May Webster, Oct. 31, 1894, at Los Angeles, Calif.

About 1861 California became the home of the family. James was educated at Golden Gate Academy, Washington College and the University of California.

As civil engineer he took an active part in the development of the Pacific Coast, especially in Southern California. Since 1896 he followed his profession in Hawaii. Industry and conscientiousness were marked features in his work.

Besides his widow, he leaves surviving him one son, Thurston Webster Taylor. C. H. K.

Rev. Frank S. Thompson died in Ansonia, Conn., at the home of his daughter, some years ago.

Rev. Thompson was the first pastor of the First Foreign Church of Hilo, Hawaii, and served that church for five years, probably from 1868 to 1873. In 1869 he became a member of the Cousins' Society and wrote occasional letters.

In 1897 he had been for many years seamen's chaplain at Valparaiso, Chile, South America, and 10 years later, at the time of the fearful earthquake at Valparaiso, he was still there. He and his wife and his daughter, Dorothy Unwin, with her husband and babe, all escaped personal harm. His elder daughter, Caroline (Mrs. D. Morrison), who had married a Scotch merchant in 1897, had moved to Scotland a year before the disaster. In 1918 he wrote from Ansonia, Conn., for the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the F. F. Church of Hilo. From this place he passed away.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bourne (Pinder) Waterhouse, who entered the higher life Aug. 17, 1923, was born in Burslem, England, Jan. 6, 1844. On Oct. 21, 1868, she married John Thomas Waterhouse II, and coming to Honolulu as a bride, her life for 55 years has been woven into the fabric of the life of the city. She was one in whom "the heart of her husband did safely trust, and her children and grandchildren rose up and called her blessed." "She opened her mouth with wisdom, and in her tongue was the law of kindness." Her manner was calm and restful and she never seemed worried or flurried. She took time to train her sons and grandsons to be kindly, courteous and gentlemanly, to respect womanhood and to protect the weak.

"She looked well to her household," and her servants gladly did her bidding. Her daughters were always at her side and she was never too busy to answer their innumerable questions or to teach them hygiene, household duties, plain needlework and the fancy stitches, at which she was an adept. She was a companion in their studies and in the art of entertaining, for she was "given to hospitality."

But her household was soon enlarged to take in the church.

In the old Fort Street Church, and later in Central Union, she was deaconess, Sunday School teacher and an active worker in the "Woman's Society" and the "Woman's Board of Missions." These brought her in contact with the poor, the sick and the bereaved and the orphaned families. Through her influence work was often secured for the unemployed, remedies for the sick, and money and clothes found for placing children in boarding school. She was quick to decide who needed help, and intuitively knew who would be willing to give the aid required. But the most noticeable trait was her abounding faith. No sooner did she decide that a child should be sent than she began to prepare for the event, even in the face of a wall of overwhelming difficulties. Little by little the rocky barriers broke away, the money was found, clothing appeared, transportation provided and the way opened.

Mrs. Waterhouse was a student throughout her life and could find time for reading. She was a member of the first Chautauqua Literary Circle, graduating in 1881. She then organized a circle in Honolulu, which she conducted for years. She also kept in touch with her children's literary activities as they entered college.

But perhaps her most influential work was among the people of the little Maemae mission. Soon after the family left their downtown home in 1885 she opened a sewing school, and in the early nineties a kindergarten, in the little Maemae chapel across the street.

This little chapel had been erected in January, 1851, as one of the "apanas" of the Kaumakapili Church, under the care of Rev. Lowell Smith, and here Judge Lorrin Andrews held preaching services for many years. His son, Robert W. Andrews, was superintendent of the Sunday School in 1861, before going away to college, and Miss Nellie Judd, A. F. Judd, Miss Emma Smith and Miss Mary Ellen Andrews were teachers. For some time this Sunday School had been discontinued, and now, after more than 20 years, Mrs. Waterhouse called upon Mr. Andrews to help her re-organize the school. He became superintendent and they worked in harmony for nearly 28 years, until he was called to higher service, and she continued the Sunday School, as well as the sewing school, until she, too, was called to her reward.

But Mrs. Waterhouse was the one who came in closest touch with the people. Through her influence the Christmas ice cream and cake, with the Christmas rewards and presents, were given to the children. She became acquainted with the parents, and like a mother, sympathized with them in their domestic and financial troubles; had their children placed in school; visited them there, and encouraged them as they went into business. No wonder they felt, as one woman expressed it, "I feel that my mother had been taken away. She was like a mother to us all." And so to Maemae Sunday School, as well as to Maemae Sewing School and Maemae district, she will ever be "Mother Waterhouse of Maemae."

On March 30 a Memorial Service was held in the little chapel. A needed additional room had been built by the Waterhouse sons and daughters in memory of their sainted mother, and here was placed her photograph and tablet. In the main room was hung the photograph of R. W. Andrews, so long superintendent of Maemae.

A beautiful service was held. Mrs. Charles L. Hall, long a pupil, now a valued teacher in the school, read the history of the school and chapel as written for the dedication of the new chapel in 1913 by Mrs. Emma Smith Dillingham, and led the children in a sweet service of song. All read together the 31st chapter of Proverbs. Benj. Kong, for years a pupil, now secretary of the Sunday School, read an appreciation of "Mother Waterhouse"; Mr. Ulukou, another valued teacher in the Sunday School, and Rev. Poepoe of Kaumakapili Church led in prayer, and her pastor, Dr. A. W. Palmer, pronounced the benediction. Rev. E. T. Sherman of Kamehameha School and family were present also.

Helene Isenberg Wolters was born in Germany in 1876. She was raised in Lihue, Kauai, from earliest childhood and lived under the influences of rural, primitive Hawaii in her early days. She was forced, through the premature death of her German mother, to take responsibilities when only 16 years of age, being the oldest daughter of a family of eight brothers and sisters. She married a plantation manager at the age of 18, and underwent many hardships, which gave her a serious view of life. Two daughters were born to her, 13 years apart. Her life up to the age of 36 was spent in remote places of the islands, with a few visits to America and Europe in between. The constant contact with beautiful nature, good books and music had a great influence on her, making her think deeply on all questions. Surrounded on the plantation, as she was, by Orientals, she became interested in foreign nations. When she went to Europe, at the age of 37, she practiced what she had learned from nature and from her lonely life to be charitable, forgiving and to love all. Being an American citizen, she stayed in Switzerland during the war, praying for peace and understanding. Her oldest daughter was married to a United States navy officer and died in San Francisco during the war. This was a severe blow to Helene. With her other daughter, Helene Charlotte, she returned to the United States in 1919 and lived a quiet life in Honolulu, always trying to heal wounds and living for the day when all nations should live together as one ideal family. She helped wherever she could with comforting words and those who needed it know how timely she could help out by gifts of money. She had a large correspondence with people of various nationalities and preached an internationalism like the one President Wilson hoped to see realized before he died.

A severe illness struck her down when only 47, from which she died, after several months of suffering.

An unselfish life, broken too soon, still one of the cornerstones which are used in the building of the Kingdom of Heaven.

G. B. I.

Two little ones, only, were gathered into the Harvest Home this year:

Gordon Merrill Waterhouse, eldest son of Paul B. and Bessie Peak Waterhouse, was taken July 5, 1923, at Kobe, Japan. He was born Feb. 19, 1915, and was lent for less than 10 happy summers to gladden the hearts of his missionary parents in that beautiful but lonely land.

And little Mary Emily Hitchcock was but 3 years old, the sweetest, dearest age, when she was called by Him who loves the little children and says, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. R. W. ANDREWS, Secretary.

LIFE MEMBERS OF THE HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY, 1924.

SYMBOLS IN THE LIST OF MEMBERS.

Original members of the Society, whether children of missionaries or elect members, have their names printed in the usual manner. The names of their children are preceded by one star, and those of children's children by two stars.

In many cases the name is preceded by a symbol in the margin, which denotes the person's missionary parentage or ancestry and the key to the symbols is the list below, in which the missionary names are given, but no titles.

☞Where the residence of a husband is given, that of the wife, in the next line, is the same.
